CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES CHOICE

Recommending a Pittsburgh municipal airport site, the Chamber of Commerce has selected a 400-acre plot on Lebanon Church road, Mifflin township, approximately eight miles from the city limits, providing a circle of 2,640 feet in diameter with additional runways of 4,700 and 5,500 feet. Above is a map locating from downtown Pittsburgh the airport site and above is a photograph of the plot itself, indicating the directions of travel to downtown Pittsburgh and Bettis Field, the nearest present air field.

Divide Et Impera.
Our African Teacher.
Russia's Navy.
Catapulting Planes.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

JAPANESE statesmanship has adopted, with other western ideas, this motto, Divide et Impera, "DIVIDE AND GOVERN." That was the motto of Louis the Eleventh of France, who said the more his nobles fought each other, the greater would be his power.

Japan divides China by forbidding Manchuria, where Japan has heavy interests and investments, to join with China's national govment.

FIVE nights in succession Great Britain's air forces will wage make-believe war against the great city of London, a war of deadly gas that could kill every human being in London or New York in a few hours.

Three hundred and fifty airplanes will attack, while hundreds of machine guns, anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and sound detectors will see what they can do to meet the attack. Instead of real gas or TNT bombs, imitation bombs will be dropped.

IN America we have a simpler plan, borrowed from a great African authority. We didn't borrow it from Hannibal, ancient Carthaginian hero, but from that noble denizen of the desert, the ostrich. When he is frightened, or sees danger, according to tradition, he buries his head in the sand. His theory is that if he doesn't see the danger, the danger can't see him.

WHILE Pilsudski, most powerful man in Poland, addressed his veterans, Russia's navy was making a display of power off Lithuania. That annoys Europe.

Russia's navy isn't big, but it is more powerful than that of Germany, since her defeat.

Russia owns some modern battleships, with names curious to us. One is called "October Revolution." Another "Paris Commune."

More important to Russia and Europe is the fact that aviation is taught in the Russian public schools, and a Bolshevik flying organization, studying aeronautics, has 5,000,000 members.

YESTERDAY afternoon the French liner Ile de France, bound for New York, 450 miles out, launched from her deck by catapult a powerful amphibian plane loaded with mail.

The amphibian, leaving the Ile de France at 1 o'clock, arrived in New York with the mail at 5:16 o'clock the same afternoon.

A PLEASANT, useful experiment. It wouldn't be so pleasant to have on the Pacific or the Atlantic ships from Europe or Asia launching swift airplanes, bringing explosive bombs and deadly gas bombs. Let's hope this catapulting of planes from ships will confine itself to mail delivery, at least until, if ever, we have a respctable fighting air fleet.

HERBERT HOOVER talked to 70,000 people standing before him, all of whom heard him distinctly, thanks to voice-amplifying devices. Millions on the Atlantic seaboard heard him over the radio before he was heard by those 100 yards away in the crowd before him. His voice, carried by electricity at 186,000 miles a second, went 3,000 miles before his voice carried by sound waves could go 100 yards.

TWENTY-FOUR hours after Herbert Hoover spoke in California he was seen and heard on the movietone, delivering the same speech. The extraordinary device, recording personality and voice, had taken "a picture" of Mr. Hoover's speech during rehearsal a few days before the final delivery, and sent it east by air mail.

ON August 22, Gov. Smith, of New York, delivers his address of acceptance. The movietone will simultaneously show the Governor and allow audiences in theaters all over the country to hear and see the Governor speaking. The speaking will begin on the movietone the moment the Governor begins to speak before his audience in New York state.

This is something really new in politics and in "publicity."

YEARS ago Howard A. Colby, all-around athlete, gave golf lessons to John D. Rockefeller, already an old man.

Doubtless Mr. Colby expected to outlive his pupil. Mr. Colby died yesterday, aged 57; Mr. Rockefeller, in his ninetieth year is well, with years ahead of him.

Length of life depends on how you live, not on how much you exercise.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT killed himself by unwise exercise, undergoing when past 50 such training as would have strained an athlete of 25.

Mr. Rockefeller prolongs his life by care and moderation. Wise Greeks wrote above their temple, "Nothing in Excess."

THE Rev. Dr. Straton, who attacked Gov. Smith, the Democratic candidate for president, decides that he will not permit Gov. Smith to reply to him from the pulpit of his, Dr. Straton's, New York Baptist church.

Dr. Straton would like to hire Madison Square Garden or some other big hall for the debate. Gov. Smith may conclude wisely that in a debate with a brilliant clergyman it is almost impossible to win and, anyhow, "If you win, you lose," and let the matter drop.

SOMETHING new in labor unions. British railroad workers have voluntarily accepted a cut of $15,000,000 a year, including 2½ per cent cut for railroad clerks. Every railroad employe from managing director to track walker accepts a lower salary, and many jobs are abolished.

Over here we would make the public pay higher rates and meet the situatio in that way.

KILLS WOMAN AND SELF

JEALOUS SUITOR SHOOTS

Slain

MRS. IRENE QUINTERO

Mrs. Irene Quintero, 33, was slain today in the home of her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Burchell, 925 Fifth avenue, East McKeesport, who narrowly escaped a similar fate, by Adalberto Hernandez, 40, Cuban boarder, who fired three shots into her body and then killed himself as the result of a quarrel.

In a jealous rage, according to county detectives, Adalberto Hermandez, 40, Cuban boarder at the home of Mrs. Irene Quintero and her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Burchell, 925 Fifth avenue, East McKeesport, today shot and killed Mrs. Quintero, 33, fired a bullet through Mrs. Burchell's night cap, then turned the weapon on himself. He died almost instantly.

Detectives found the bodies side by side in the bedroom occupied by Hermandez. He was employed by the Westinghouse company at Wilmerding and the woman at East Pittsburgh. Both were preparing to go to work when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Burchell, asleep in an adjoining room, ran towards Hermandez's room at the sound of the first shots and the enraged man turned the weapon on her, sending one bullet through her night cap and another through her nightgown.

Mrs. Quintero was separated from her husband, Julius Quintero, and lived with her four daughters at her mother's home. The children, Zora, 10; Marie, 14; Myrtle, 15, and Helen, 16, were asleep in another adjoining room, and did not witness the shooting.

Spurn Mine Peace

Through their refusal to accept the invitation to participate in a wage conference with local representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, Pittsburgh district coal operators have indicated that they will continue to ignore the union. This much was obtained in a canvass of coal company officials here after they had received the invitations sent out by union heads.

Fourteen officials of local coal companies stated that they are not interested in the coming conference which P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, of the United Mine Workers proposes. Fagan sent out the invitation to 31 operators, expressing a desire to negotiate a new wage scale to replace the abandoned Jacksonville scale.

Fagan said he was desirous of bringing the operators and union men together for an earnest effort to stabilize conditions in the coal industry here. He stated his invitation was issued by authority granted by the policy committee of the national organization, in conformity with resolutions adopted by that committee in Indianapolis last month.

It was decided at the committee meeting that each district group should attempt to bring about peace between the miners and operators in their respective fields. In many other parts of the country the operators have refused to meet with the miners and where meetings were held, little was done toward settling any wage scale.

The operators here are of the opinion that they have done without the union for many months and are working their mines, in many cases, under open-shop conditions. At this time they see no need of changing their operating conditions.

DEMS GET DU PONT'S $50,000

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN, International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Democratic national headquarters today received a check for $50,000 from Pierre S. Du Pont chairman of the board of the General Motors Corporation, who recently declared his support of Gov. Smith.

The contribution is the largest received to date by the Smith campaign managers and is one of the largest political contributions ever recorded in any campaign.

Mr. Du Pont, who is a director of the association against the prohibition amendment, declared in announcing his support of Smith that the Governor's open advocacy of modification of the Volstead act was his principal reason for abandoning the Republican party and throwing his support to the Democratic candidate.

GIFT WELCOME

In announcing the $50,000 contribution, Chairman John J. Raskob, of the Democratic National Committee, repeated that the Democratic managers saw no reason for limiting the size of campaign contributions.

"We see no objection to contributions of any size so long as they are published and the money used for legitimate campaign purposes."

Selection of Frank L. Polk, under-Secretary of State in the administration of Woodrow Wilson, as president of the collegiate bureau of the Smith campaign was announced today by Raskob.

Polk will open headquarters in the national committee rooms here.

"Governor Smith makes a strong appeal to college men and women," Polk said, in accepting the appointment.

It is his intention to organize Smith clubs on every important campus in the country.

Rev. Straton Told Of Rum Sale in His Property

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, was on the warpath today when he was informed that liquor had been purchased in his newly-acquired hotel near Greenwood Lake, N. Y. The clergyman, whose recent sermon criticizing Gov. Smith drew the Governor's fire, took title to the hotel six weeks ago for the Greenwood Lake Christian Assembly.

A reporter told Dr. Straton that he had bought a quart of whisky over the hotel bar. Amazed, Dr. Straton said he would oust the lessee of the hostelry if the charge could be proved. Then he appealed to various authorities and was finally advised to swear out a warrant and have the place searched.

Dr. Straton has not indicated just what he would do.

Smith Has Lead Here In Vote

Hoover drew up to an almost tie vote yesterday with Smith in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's straw vote in Pennsylvania, rolling up 268 ballots against the Democrats 287. This brings the total, up to date, to Hoover, 970; Smith, 1,251.

Rural districts are being heard from now, which are giving Hoover a two-to-one vote over Smith. The suburban and rural vote in Allegheny county, up to yesterday, showed a total of 39 for the Republican candidate and 21 for his opponent.

An interesting feature of the Hoover vote is that 493 of his votes were from women, while 471 of them were male votes. As for Smith, 680 male votes were received against 571 feminine votes.

PARTY CHANGES

It was indicated that in 1924 the straw voters gave Coolidge 1,388 votes, evenly distributed between men and women, which shows that

PICK AIRPORT SITE 8 MI. OUT

The Chamber of Commerce today recommended to the County Commissioners, the Mayor and City Council that Pittsburgh's new municipal airport be located on Lebanon Church road, Mifflin township, 9.8 miles from the Pittsburgh postoffice and 8.2 miles from the city line.

The Chamber's recommendation was announced by Arthur E. Braun, chairman of the Airport Location Committee, who declared it was the unanimous choice of his six associates and himself after a careful study of aproximately 200 sites.

The airport site is two miles west of Bettis Field. It comprises about 400 acres, but the committee recommends that additional acreage be acquired "to prevent encroachment and provide expansion."

The field will provide a circle of 2,640 feet in diameter with additional runways into prevailing winds of 4,700 and 5,500 feet. About 3,000,000 cubic yards of excavation will be necesary. These dimensions will gain for Pittsburgh an A-1 rating from the Department of Commerce.

The expansion provided in the eventual plan of the committee's recommendation will give to Pittsburgh the A-1-A Department of Commerce rating, the highest possible.

The committee proffers its services in the development of the airport. It specifically urges that attention be given to the necessity of intermediate landing fields in every section of the county connecting with the airport for the dual purpose of convenience and safety.

In summing up its activities the report cites that the committee learned in its investigation of aviation incident to its duties, the unlimited potentialities of aviation, particularly for Pittsburgh.

The committee's report was unanimously approved by the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which forwarde copies to the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners and the Mayor and City Council, simultaneously with its release to the newspapers.

The Chamber of Commerce Airport Committee was appointed on

Teacher's Slayer Held

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Calm in the face of a confession of his crime, David Shanks, young Negro bootblack, was held to the Cook county grand jury today for the murder of Miss Jennie M. Constance, college teacher, whom he admitted slaying and robbing in Evanston last Tuesday night.

The Negro was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Willis Brightmire, who held him to the grand jury without bond on a charge of first-degree murder. The hearing was held immediately after young Shanks, who is in his early twenties, led police and authorities to the scene of his crime where he reenacted the slaying and repeated the details of how he atacked and killed Miss Constance in a holdup, which netted him $1.13, the amount for which he hold her wrist watch.

Shanks, who can neither read, write nor tell his age, was emotionless as he described the way he waited for his victim, behind a tall hedge, striking her over the head with an iron pipe as she

ROBINSON FLAYS PARTNER AS BROOKLYN PLAYS HERE

The private vendetta between Wilbert Robinson, manager and President of the Brooklyn baseball club, and Stephen W. McKeever, vice president and treasurer, flared into open warfare today.

Answering a statement made by McKeever in Brooklyn to the effect that Uncle Wilbert would be deposed as manager at the end of the current season because the fans were dissatisfied at the team's poor showing, Robinson declared today that McKeever was responsible for the Dodgers' failure.

"McKeever's statement is but another attempt to embarrass me," Robinson declared. "He knows he hasn't the power or the authority to depose me.

"He has insulted me at our every meeting, and his attitude has prevented any real harmony in our conduct of the affairs of the club.

By his statements and actions he has belittled my authority with the players and made my managerial task doubly difficult. The result was that team spirit and team morale collapsed."

Robinson's contract, said to call for an annual salary of $25,000, has another year to run. In his statement Judge McKeever announced he was willing to take up the contract, but under the club's constitution he has no authority to do so without the consent of the board of directors.

Now that the Pirate pitchers are performing like champions, the Pittsburgh players and fans have something solid on which to pin their hopes as the club fights for a better position.

Carmen Hill will go to Fogarty Knoll this afternoon in an attempt to wrest victory from the Dodgers in the second game of the series. Doug McWeeney, one of Uncle Robbie's best chuckers, is due to oppose the spectacled star.

AUTO SCORNS RED LIGHTS, CRASHES INTO WORKMEN

Ploughing through a line of red lanterns and into a crowd of laborers working on the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Fifth avenue near Soho street early today, an automobile probably fatally injured one man and caused serious injury to two others.

Two other members of the crew escaped injury. Police are holding Julius Marazas, 38, of 1153 Wightman street, as the driver of the machine.

The injured are Michael DeMossa, 40, of Brookline; Michael Pallottino, 36, of 900 Mohler street, and Daniel Dartino, 45, of 1041 Willard street. They are in the Mercy Hospital. DeMossa is in a critical condition, suffering a fractured skull.

John Brown, 45, of 5 Forsett place, foreman, and Thomas Coady, of 1242 Lincoln avenue, escaped by leaping when they saw the car plunging toward them. A charge of reckless driving was lodged against Marazas at the Oakland Police Station.

CAN LAW TAKE CHILDREN?

Pittsburgh mothers and children's welfare workers are not enthusiastic over Magistrate A. D. Brandon's recent order in Morals Court directing that minor children in bootleggers' families be taken away from their parents. The situation was brought to a climax yesterday when five children of a Lawrenceville woman were given in charge of officers of the Juvenile Court when the mother was arrested for violating the Snyder act.

Among the expressions given were:

MRS. MARCUS SPIRO, president Mothers' Assistance Fund Board — "When I heard of Magistrate Brandon's order it was with apprehension, and I am not convinced that the taking of children away from their mothers is the best thing to do, except in extreme instances of bad environment. Under all circumstances there should be a thorough investigation under trained social workers. A helpful word or deed oftimes is more beneficial than radical steps such as the breaking up of homes. Putting the brand of the Juvenile Court on young children should only be the last resort, and in the cases of delinquent mothers, the little ones are the innocent victims. Every such case should be investigated."

MISS ELEANOR HANSON, Associated Charities. — "Magistrate Brandon is sincere in his efforts to break up the liquor traffic and safeguard innocent children, but I believe that no home should be broken up until it is wholly apparent that the environment is a detriment to the child's development. The true conditions can easily be determined through investigations by experienced social workers."

MISS SOPHIE LEVIN, secretary, Mothers' Pension League—"Magistrate Brandon is to be praised in his earnest work and I feel that he must understand the situation in each individual case before he orders children to be taken away from a mother's care. The modern social view insists that the home, whenever possible, be maintained and let corrective measures be made there. When the Mothers' Pension League was organized 15 years ago, it was for the purpose of keeping homes intact and urging the state to provide all possible assistance—socially, morally and financially—to the struggling mother.

Water Contaminated -:- City Orders All Frick Park Springs Closed -:- Disease Preventative

ALL CLOSED

All springs in Frick Park have been ordered closed since seven of 10 in that woodland have been found contaminated after examination. This one, heretofore unguarded, is just below the Braddock avenue playground. The Department of Health has brought the move.

LEXINGTON

This spring is near the end of Lexington avenue, in "Sterrett Woods," where East End boys play. Frick Park picnickers and visitors have been warned against drinking the water.

CEMETERY

This spring bubbles out just below Homewood Cemetery. So far, Dr. R. G. Burns, health director, reports, there have been no cases of illness come to light as a result of people drinking the Frick Park spring water.

BEECHWOOD

This water-hole may be found just off Beechwood boulevard. Young boys playing in Frick Park these summer days frequently drank of the cool water. The health department is also examining and testing all other park waters in the city.

BYPATH

Even though the springs have been ordered closed, Frick Park is still a beauty spot in the East End district. This is just one of its many bypaths. The park is a gift to the people of Pittsburgh from the Frick estate.

FARM PARLEY LEAVES SMITH CONFIDENT

By RAYMOND I. BORST.
International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Convinced that he has won the support of farm leaders from various parts of the country because of his stand on farm relief, Gov. Al Smith today was to put the final touches on the address he will deliver one week from tomorrow in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although the 10 farm experts with whom he conferred for five hours at the executive mansion yesterday left for their homes without announcing that they would publicly support him, the Governor feels, according to his advisers, that eventually a majority of them will throw their strength to the Democratic ticket.

MAJORITY REPUBLICANS

Six of the 10 farm experts who came here for a round table discussion of the agricultural problem with Smith are rated as Republicans. Two of them, Earl C. Smith, of Illinois, and Frank W. Murphy, of Minnesota, were delegates to the Republican National convention.

Smith is president of the Illinois Agricultural Association with a membership of 60,000. Murphy is chairman of the legislative committee of the Corn Belt Committee of 22.

According to reports at the Capitol today, two or three of the farm leaders made a futile attempt to induce Smith to take a decided stand in favor of the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, which was vetoed by President Coolidge. The Governor is said to have bluntly told them that he subscribed to the broad principle of controlling surplus farm commodity and assessing the cost on the group to be benefited, but that he would not take any definite stand now as to the details of such a plan.

The Governor is said to have told the leaders, however, that in the event of his election he would immediately call a conference of the farm experts of the country and that any plan recommended by the conference to bring about real farm relief would be approved by him with the recommendation that it be enacted by Congress. This statement by the Governor is reported to have met with warm applause by the farm leaders.

HIT BY PITTSBURGHER'S MOTOR, PICNICKER DIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 14.—Benjamin Obley, 78, of West Newton, struck Sunday night near Amity, by the automobile of J. W. Prescott, 1826 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, died here last night. Brought to the hospital here, he never regained consciousness. Mr. Obley was a member of a picnicking party. Prescott is free on his own recognizance pending an inquest.

walked by. He showed how he dragged her body back of the hedge, tearing her clothes in his search for valuables. He showed how he struck her again as she lay on the ground moaning.

It was the woman's wrist watch that led to Shank's arrest last night as he was shining shoes in the place where he was employed. He had sold the watch to Lebert Bastian, son of his employer, who had taken it to the jeweler to have the woman's initials, "J. M. C.," changed to his own.

The jeweler reporter the matter to police, who were waiting when young Bastian called for the watch last night. He did not hesitate to tell where he had obtained the watch, leading police to his father's shoe shining parlor, where the Negro was at work. Shanks readily confessed, giving robbery as his motive.

OPEN BRIDGE AT GLASSPORT

The Glassport-Clairton bridge was opened to pedestrian traffic today. Vehicular traffic will be permitted over the new span tomorrow.

No ceremonies marked the opening of the bridge. A joint official opening will be held when McKeesport-Duquesne bridge is thrown open to the public about September 5. The Glassport-Clairton bridge cost $1,300,000. The other span, when completed, will cost $2,100,000.

PAROLE POSTAL CLERK CONFESSING THEFT

James P. Smith, former clerk in the Aliquippa postoffice, was paroled for two years by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today after he had pleaded guilty to embezzling $198.80 from c. o. d. deliveries and postal funds. Restitution was made, the court was told.

Two Dead In Love Triangle

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Austin Pavey, 35, an amateur photographer, committed suicide late last night as police entered his home to arrest him in connection with the murder yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Lillie Mae Carmein, 33, a factory worker. Mrs. Carmein was shot four times and her body left lying in one of the principal streets of the city.

According to friends of the family the suicide of Pavey was the last act of a triangular love affair. Elmer Carmein, husband of the dead woman, is grief stricken, as is a 10-year-old son.

TRUSTEE'S CASE POSTPONED

A hearing on nine rules granted August 2, requiring Elliott Frederick, trustee in bankruptcy, to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for alleged failure to file final and supplementary reports on estates in which he was trustee, scheduled for today, was postponed until next Tuesday. Watson B. Adair, referee in bankruptcy, was the petitioner. Counsel for Frederick told Judge F. P. Schoonmaker effort would be made to have all reports filed by Tuesday.

BOY INJURED WHEN HE STEPS IN AUTO'S PATH

SAVES 18 HOURS

Hurled from a 60-ton catapult from the top forward deck of the Ile de France, ocean liner 450 miles at sea, this four-ton plane, carrying fast mail, one passenger and a crew of three, flew five hours over the Atlantic Ocean and landed at Quarantine, New York, 18 hours before the ship docked. The plane, amphibian and piloted by Commander Louis de Mougeot, will make regular trips with the Ile de France.

AUTO DRIVER HELD FOR JURY

Samuel H. Bales, 25, of 11 West Main street, Carnegie, was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter, by the coroner's jury today in the death of Mary Admason, 54, widow, of 1318 Illinois avenue, Dormont.

Mrs. Admason died July 28 in the South Side Hospital of injuries suffered July 16, when Bales' auto, in which she was a passenger, collided with a machine driven by David Francis, of 812 Western avenue. The accident occurred on Hope Hollow road, near the Fern Garden roadhouse.

FALL OF ROCK KILLS MINER AT DAISYTOWN

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 14.—Charles Krovisky, 52, of Daisytown, near California, was killed in the No. 4 mine of the Vesta Coal Company, last evening by a falling roof. The trolley wire also was carried down and it has not been determined whether Krovisky was electrocuted or crushed to death.

GIRL 'CAMPERS' FAIL TO APPEAR

Three young women, who were arrested in a raid on the "Rondavoo," camp on the Allegheny River at Oakmont, failed to appear for a hearing last night when nine male companions were arraigned before Burgess J. M. Bossert, of Oakmont. Each of the nine men was fined $10 on disorderly conduct charges. The raid was made early Sunday.

The men were ordered to stop all drinking at the camp, the raid having been made on complaints of campers who alleged wild drinking orgies had taken place.

BEAVER FALLS WOMAN FINDS THIEF IN BOUDOIR

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 14.—Awakened by a noise, Mrs. James L. Hall, Dutch Ridge road, saw a man going out of her bedroom door with her husband's trousers. The latter chased the man out the front door. State police and a posse of citizens recovered the trousers in a lane, but auto license cards and money are missing.

Smith Has Lead Here In Vote

many Republicans had drifted from their party. But the LaFollette vote in 1924 among these voters showed a total of 390, 247 male votes and 143 women's votes. Davis only polled 180 ballots in this list of voters, 84 male and 57 female.

The hearty response to this straw vote, which is national in its scope, being conducted under the auspices of the Hearst newspapers throughout the country, is prompted, to a large measure, by the fact that it is practically secret, no record being kept of names or addresses.

Cards are sent to registered voters, only, or those privileged to vote, all taxpayers, and the results give a definite and dependable expression of the public preference as it will be expressed at the polls in November.

Daily figures of the progress of the straw vote will be announced in The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and as the rural and suburban ballots are received they will be shown seperate, to give a better idea of how centers of population are compared with the sparsely settled areas of the state.

WOMAN KILLED BY CAR OF SHARON POLICEMAN

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Cornelia Morrison, 68, of Grace street, Alliance, O., was injured fatally last night when the car driven by her husband collided with a machine driven by Harold Higgins, Sharon police officer, on the Sharon-Greenville road. Mrs. Morrison was thrown through the windshield and her jugular vein severed. She died a few minutes later in the Buhl Hospital. John Ward, Sr., of McKeesport, a passenger in the Morrison car, escaped with minor bruises. Neither Higgins or Morrison were hurt.

Horse Has Kick Against Autos; Wrecks One

"Dick," a horse who draws a garbage wagon for his oats was in a bad mood yesterday, his driver, Tony Veto, told North Side police. Early yesterday morning Dobbin upset the wagon and wound up by kicking in the sides of an automobile parked in front of 10 Hemlock street. The doors and body of the machine were badly damaged by Dick's hoofs, police said. The police characterized Dick as a chronic kicker having a grudge against gasoline buggies. The incident occurred while the driver was absent.

HOOVER FORGES AHEAD AS STRAW VOTE GROWS

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—As the returns pile up from all sections of the country in the nation-wide poll by the Hearst newspapers the over shadowing phases of the national campaign remain unchanged; they are:

1.—The women and farmers will vote overwhelmingly for Mr. Hoover.

2.—The total vote is going to be unprecedented.

3.—Gov. Smith is sweeping the metropolitan centers, with the exception of Cook county (Chicago).

4.—LaFollette vote of 1924 in larger cities is swinging to Smith.

Returns from 22 states, including Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia, tabulated up to yesterday, put Mr. Hoover in the lead over Gov. Smith by 2,303.

The vote is:

Hoover	63,875
Smith	61,572

Analysis of these figures lays the basis for highly interesting speculation.

The outstanding features are the mighty swing of up-state New York to the Hoover camp and the certain indication that the new vote this year is going to be so large that normal pluralities may mean nothing if the preponderance of this unknown quantity should swing in either direction.

The Wisconsin figures seem to show that the New York governor is going to gobble up most of the LaFollette vote of four years ago.

Gov. Smith's percentage total, as indicated by the returns thus far received—2,578—is 845 more than the combined Coolidge-Davis preference and 1,122 more than the combined Davis and LaFollette vote.

The straw vote in these same precincts gives Mr. Hoover a total of 1,193 as against Smith's' 2,578 and Coolidge's 1924 total of 1,369.

But when the indicator passes on to the rural districts and particularly stops at the women vote, Mr. Hoover is way out in front. This is specially noted in upstate New York territory, although in the larger cities Smith is holding his own.

The figures are not sufficient thus early in the canvass to show very clearly whether the Hoover rural vote will be large enough to overcome the Governor's big lead in Greater New York and the present indication that Smith will poll a large vote in the up-state cities of more than country town size.

For the present, then, New York State, as well as Wisconsin, remains definitely in the doubtful column.

Owing to his large lead in Boston, Smith is out in front in the Massachusetts returns.

Kentucky looks like a horse race at this distance.

Missouri is Hoover by a comfortable margin, although later returns from wet St. Louis may indicate a much closer race.

Smith's large Baltimore vote, also, shows him slightly in front in Maryland, while the Hoover rural vote is amazing old-time politicians.

The political experts in the G. O. P. camp look for an increased percentage in the women Hoover vote as soon as the definite trend is shown as a result of the acceptance speech. His declaration against the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, they believe, will start a veritable tidal wave of pro-Hoover sentiment all through the state, and particularly in the farm territory.

Thus far there is nothing in the early figures to indicate a serious defection among the farmers of Illinois.

ORDER PADLOCK ON NEGLEY INN

A federal padlock today was ordered placed on the Negley Inn, 5506 Penn avenue, owned by Jovo and Milka Miljus, where liquids banned by the Volstead act were sold. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, who signed the decree padlocking the first floor of the building, inserted a proviso that the order may be modified later to permit the owners to make alterations to fit the first floor for legitimate business purposes.

ASSIGN PATROLMEN TO COUNTY PARKS

Four additional patrolmen were sworn in for duty in the county's North and South parks today by the County Commissioners. Arnold Flannigan, Allison Park; Samuel Scott, Gibsonia, and Frank Herr, Allison, were assigned to North Park, and John Mutzko, Broughton, to South Park. There now are six patrolmen on duty in the two parks.

OHIO POLICE INQUIRE INTO MYSTERY SHOOTING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 14.—Police still are investigating the mysterious shooting of Tony Caputo, supposedly by John Preston. The two are alleged leaders of rival bootleg factions. The shooting occurred in Preston's room. Preston is in the hospital, a bullet wound in his arm.

Isolated on Golden Island -:- Where Tunney Made Dash Into Obscurity -:- "Cornered" Boat Market

HAVEN

In this haven on the "Isle of Golden Dreams"—in a material sense, St. John's Island, South Bristol, Me.—Gene Tunney and his bride-to-be have been hiding out from Tunney's great American public. This is one of the homes of Tunney's future mother-in-law, Mrs. George Lauder, Jr.

FLEES

——but Tunney had to get somewhere and photographers surrounded his self-made prison. Ruses and a disguise, including heavy goggles, helped.

LAUGH

Now, only temporarily, Gene can laugh, but soon they'll catch up. A wild chase by automobile landed the vanguard of the photographers just 14 minutes late for his train—from which he mysteriously disappeared into obscurity before it reached New York City. Now he's in New York.

FIANCEE

Josephine "Polly" Lauder is the fiancee with whom Gene hid away, surrounded by guards equipped with fast boats and ordered to keep away everyone.

CORNERED

With all in his favor, Gene escaped, but his mother-in-law-to-be bribed all the boatmen about the island to keep their craft tied up. They did. And then the East underwent a systematic combing for the retired heavyweight champion who dashes across the countryside in heavy disguise! He's been found.

DRY, WET OHIO IN PRIMARY CLASH

CONTESTS ATTRACT RECORD VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Wet and dry lines were sharply drawn as Ohio voters chose party candidates in the state's primary election today.

With interest centering on the Republican gubernatorial and the short term Democratic senatorial contests, predictions were that the heaviest vote in many years, possibly reaching 900,000, would be cast.

The prohibition issue probably was most pronounced in the race between Senator Cyrus Locher and Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, for the short term Democratic senatorial nomination. Locher, indorsed by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, was expected to draw a heavy vote from the rural sections, while Hunt, opposed by the league for many years, anticipated support from the large cities.

The Republican gubernatorial fight, centering around three of the six candidates entered, also was dominated by the prohibition question. Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, had the full indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, although not indorsed officially by the league, has had unofficial indorsement of a strong dry faction. Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Columbus, opposed the league at every turn, alleging it had dominated state legislation by combining with certain public utility interests.

In the short term Republican senatorial race, Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, and Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall, of the Ohio Supreme Court, were the favorites. The other candidates were former Congressman Charles Dick, Akron; "Gen." Jacob S. Coxey, Massilon, famous as the leader several decades ago of "Coxey's Army;" and H. D. Cook, Ashtabula millionaire.

HOOVER TO SWEEP PA. —FISHER

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Republican leaders expect women voters to give Herbert Hoover a large majority in the November presidential election.

This was indicated at a meeting here today of Republican leaders from all sections of the United States who came to California to attend the Hoover notification ceremony.

Presiding over the meeting, Dr. Hubert Work, national director of Hoover's campaign, sounded out sectional sentiment by calling for expressions on the present status of the Hoover campaign from those in attendance.

"The greatest popular vote ever given to a candidate in Pennsylvania," was the predictions of Gov. John Fisher of that state.

"The women in our state are aroused and enthused," Fisher declared, "and I can safely promise at this time an overwhelming victory for Herbert Hoover.

"In Pennsylvania, we have 'silent influences' at work. Al Smith is a charming man, a popular man, and these influences I mentioned are now hard to work for him, but we will have more than enough support to offset this opposition."

GIRL MOTORIST KILLS MAN

Struck on the head by the fender of an automobile driven by a 22-year-old girl just learning to drive, Jefferson Stull, 65, of Coursin avenue, McKeesport, died of a fractured skull this morning in the McKeesport Hospital. Miss Mildred Gosdonovic, 22, of 1804 Jenny Lind street, driver of the car, was arrested.

Stull was sitting on the curb pulling weeds and police say Miss Gosdonovic misjudged the distance between the car and the curb, the fender striking him on the head and knocking him to the sidewalk.

The girl driver had a learner's permit and was accompanied by Peter Mikacz, 28, also of 1804 Jenny Lind street. She was released by the coroner in $1,000 bail pending the inquest.

RAIL MEN VOTE ON STRIKE

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A strike vote was to be taken today by conductors and trainmen on Western railroads, according to word received here yesterday from the Cleveland office of President A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Strike ballots were prepared last night in the Chicago offices of the Brotherhood and at the headquarters of the Order of Railway Conductors. Meanwhile, 90 general chairmen of both unions called meetings of their committees throughout the west to carry out the balloting.

The ballots will be collected at Chicago for tabulation. They must be returned by September 2, when the decision of the Brotherhood will be announced.

Approximately 70,000 employes and 80 roads, owning about 98 per cent of the trackage west of Chicago, are involved in the threatened tieup.

The men will vote on their original demands for increases in wages and salary running from 10 per cent for yardmen to 18 per cent for conductors, according to President Whitney.

Gassy Stomach Means What?

Stomach gas is a sign of acid. Acid is the cause of ulcers. Don't use a remedy which aggravates this condition and leaves your stomach in worse shape than before.

To neutralize the acid is not enough. You must also protect the delicate stomach lining which has been made sore and raw. Bi-nesia is the one remedy which does both—the remedy doctors recommend and thousands use. Quickest relief—safest, most complete protection against serious consequences is the money-back guarantee under which Bi-nesia is sold by all druggists. Get a 50 cent package of Bi-nesia tablets or powder and treat your indigestion the safe way.

MAIL IS SHOT OFF SHIP 450 MILES OUT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—An airplane was hurled from a catapult on the deck of the liner Ile de France, 450 miles at sea yesterday, swung its nose toward New York and dropped down at Quarantine five hours later with a crew of three, a passenger and a cargo of mail.

The liner, plunging ahead at her normal 23 knots, docked today. Those aboard the plane had cut nearly 18 hours off the trans-Atlantic voyage.

Their flight, first in which a plane ever was catapulted from a moving steamer's deck, inaugurated a ship-to-shore service which will be made from the Ile de France on both east and west journeys hereafter, and which the French line proposes eventually to extend to regular passengers.

A catapult weighing 60 tons and an amphibian plane of nearly four tons were loaded aboard the Ile de France when she sailed from Havre last Wednesday. Com. Louis de Mougeot went along as pilot. With him on the experimental flight today were B. Monrouzeau, radio operator, and A. Sarzach, mechanic.

A radiogram from the master of the liner to the Associated Press, reported the takeoff perfect. The plane carried fuel sufficient only for the 450-mile flight to Quarantine, but in future the steamship company plans longer flights to cut a full day from the time of transporting important mail.

STOP AT QUARANTINE

At Quarantine the plane and its crew went through the usual examinations, but these were completed in less than an hour and the plane hopped to the French line pier. There the mail sacks were transferred to the postoffice.

It was little over a year ago that the first commercial ship-to-shore flight was made by Clarence Chamberlain, pilot of the monoplane Columbia on its flight from New York to Germany. Chamberlain soared from an improvised runway on the deck of the Leviathan.

ZONING BOARD DECISIONS

Mother and Daughter Praise Vegetable Compound

Johnson City, N. Y.—"My daughter was only 20 years old, but for two years she worked in misery. She was all run-down, nervous, had aches and pains and no appetite. I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results so she decided to try it. Before she had taken two bottles her appetite was better, she was more cheerful and was able to work. I cannot praise your medicine too highly. It is wonderful for mothers and for daughters. It's surely 'a friend in need.'"—Mrs. L. E. Hall, 223 Floral Avenue, Johnson City, N. Y.

Mrs. R. V. Wagner Tells How Cuticura Healed Daughter

"My daughter had eczema all over her right shoulder and arm, chest and neck. It started with a red spot that had water in the center of it, and became so itchy that she could not sleep at night and I could not keep her from scratching and breaking the blisters.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I washed the affected parts with the Soap and then applied the Ointment. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Rebecca V. Wagner, 84 Easy St., Heshbon, Pa., March 1, 1928.

Use Cuticura Soap daily for the toilet, assisted by Cuticura Ointment when required, and have a clear, fresh complexion, free from pimples and blackheads.

AUTO KILLS ONE; HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER FLEES

CAR PLUNGES INTO CROWD; TAKE SUSPECT

A youth was killed and his two brothers and their two companions injured when they were run down by a hit-and-run driver while walking in East Ohio street, between Etna and Millvale, late last night. A license plate which broke off from the front of the car and fell to the road resulted in the arrest of the alleged driver an hour later.

The dead youth is Michael Stefanick, 21, of 969 East Ohio street, Shaler township. The injured are Joseph Stefanick, 19, and Paul Stefanick, 17, his brothers; Frank Lowe, 17, all of 969 East Ohio street, Shaler township, and Charles Ward, 21, of 979 East Ohio street, Shaler township. Joseph Stefanick and Lowe are in St. Margaret's Hospital, each in a serious condition. Ward is in the Allegheny General Hospital suffering from contusions. Paul Stefanick was treated there for cuts and bruises and was able to go home.

Through the registration number County Detectives Harry Barker and David Caughey learned that the license plates were issued to Joseph Brizie, of 5204 Keystone street, the detective said. Caughey arrested Brizie and he was turned over to the coroner today.

According to Detective Barker who questioned Paul Stefanick at the Allegheny General Hospital shortly after his older brother had been pronounced dead, the youths were walking in East Ohio street when the automobile driven east in the street struck them and failed to stop. The license plate with the bar to which it was attached broke off and fell to the street.

LIFE GUARDS RESCUE SWIMMER IN RIVER

Seized with cramps while bathing alone in Allegheny River, foot of Twenty-eighth street, Leo Stein, 18, of 1080 East Ohio street, was rescued from drowning by Lifeguards Benjamin F. Nowak, 28, of 902 North Canal street, and Leo Zazak, 21, of 3318 Brereton avenue. The two guards were on their way to work when they saw Stein struggling in the water.

Weather Conditions.

The West Indian hurricane is now a considerable distance off the west coast of Florida. It produced moderately heavy rains over Florida, but no destructive winds. It is also producing general cloudiness and light showers over the remainder of the east Gulf states.

High pressure covers the entire eastern portion of the country. The skies are generally clear except in the Gulf states, and the temperatures slightly below normal. Over the West the barometer is low, the principal center being over North Dakota and Manitoba. It is producing thunderstorms over North Dakota and Manitoba, and over the remainder of the Canadian Northwest.

River Conditions.

There were slight changes in the river stages since yesterday morning. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.6 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.5; and Dam No. 6, 7.4 feet; the dams are up.

APPLE SHIPPERS OPEN ANNUAL MEET HERE

More than a thousand delegates and members of the International Apple Shippers' Association will attend the opening session of the thirty-third annual convention of that organization in the main ball room of the William Penn Hotel tonight. The delegates and visitors will be officially welcomed to Pittsburgh by President of Council James F. Malone, and Raymond Kenny, of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. The response will be delivered by Aubrey Milam, of Atlanta, Ga. There will be a program of musical numbers, dancing, and a buffet supper was served.

Tomorrow the association will hold a number of sessions devoted to the discussion of subjects relating to the apple-shipping industry. Addresses will be delivered by H. A. Spilman, United States Department of Agriculture; Joseph Sicker, of New York; R. R. Pailthorp, of United States Department of Agriculture; Frank H. Simpson, of Flora, Ill., and W. H. Baggs, chairman.

One of the important subjects to be discussed at the convention Thursday will be the abandonment or continuance of Annual Apple Week.

The convention will adjourn on Friday morning and it is expected that before that time more than 1,500 delegates from all over the United States and from points in Canada, South America and Europe will be in attendance at the meetings, which are to be held in the William Penn Hotel.

The New "Felice" Hats $8.50

This individual line of youthful hats is flaunting new models for girls to take away to college or for immediate wear in town.

The new berets of velvet, new nonchalant models of felt or metal-stitched velvet, the new poke effects according to Paris—all are to be seen in the Debutante Room of the Millinery Salons.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

"Felice" Velvet Frocks

For Junior-Misses

A sophisticated fabric is modified to youth, in junior-misses' "Felice" frocks of plain and printed transparent velvet.

They are individualized for Miss 13-to-17 by youthful monk collars, boleros, flared skirts, and a general air of simplicity.

In a variety of colorful prints, and in black, brown and blue shades.

$29.50 to $65.00

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

New Satin Dresses —Lace-Trimmed

Two gracious, feminine features are combined in new dresses of satin trimmed with cream-tinted Alencon lace. The dresses are in black, fall-leaf brown, bronze, nubeige and imperial blue—shades which show the beauty of satin to excellent advantage.

The lace is used as fichus, as finishes to Molyneux and other necklines, as dainty insets which have the effect of narrow yokes, and as cuffs to flatter the hands.

The dresses are women's one and two-piece models, with pleated and tiered skirts.

TIDES, FLOODS, NEW STORM PERIL FLORIDA

4TH TROPICAL HURRICANE ZOOMS OUT OF CARIBBEAN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The fourth tropical disturbance within a week was gathering force in the Caribbean Sea today as it swept toward Cuba, while the Florida Peninsula grappled with the destruction and dangers left in the wake of its predecessors.

The west coast of the state was recovering from the effects of a gale which swept by northward last night, although the fate of two or more vessels whose distress flares were sighted at St. Petersburg was not determined.

On the east coast, the Lake Okeechobee region west of Palm Beach was sending out calls to the National Red Cross for aid in caring for several hundred persons left destitute by the flood aftermath of the first hurricane which roared in from the Atlantic ocean a week ago today.

The liner Munamar, New York-bound from Miami and Nassau, still was held fast on the sand near Hole-in-the-Wall, Great Abaco, Bahamas, where it was blown Sunday. Her 75 passengers were landed at Nassau last night, after having been taken off by a tug. The vessel was expected to get off the sand today.

The freighter, Lake Treba, Santo Domingo to Havana, struggled into port at Tampa yesterday leaking badly from a four-days' sojourn on a sand bar in the Bahama Channel.

Further trouble was anticipated today, particularly for small shipping, as the weather bureau at St. Petersburg warned that tides along the west coast and through the Keys would range up to nine feet with the passing of last night's storm.

Danger of flooding was seen in port towns.

The emergency of conditions in the Lake Okeechobee region, which has been drenched almost ceaselessly by rains since the hurricane of last Tuesday, was recognized yesterday when Okeechobee City, largest town in the area, called on the National Red Cross for aid in feeding the homeless and destitute along the course of the rampaging Kissimmee River to the north. Many small communities were cut off.

RIVER RISING

Meanwhile the river continued to rise, flooding thousands of fertile acres along a 30-mile stretch approaching the lake. The condition of the lake itself was undetermined. From Okeechobee City came word that the water was at the 17-foot danger level, but F. C. Elliott, chief state drainage engineer at Tallahassee, said advices to him indicated that the water stood only 14 feet and that there was no danger of a serious overflow. The Kissimmee River, however, had spread over a channel three miles wide in many places, and continued to rise.

Temporary flood conditions obtained along the West Coast today as rivers bore the burden of torrential rains accompanying yesterday's storm. Tidal water swept into Fort Meyers to a depth of three feet, and all creeks in the Punta Gorda area were out of their banks.

Sarasota, Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other towns were in darkness during the night, and damage was comparatively heavy from the winds. Wire communication was disrupted.

PUZZLED BY FIRE

MRS. JOHN D. HERTZ

Today Mrs. John D. Hertz, sportswoman, is still unable to offer explanations for the apparently incendiary fire threatening her string of horses. Oil-soaked cotton was found in the burning Saratoga Springs stable by watchmen aroused by a barking dog. The string included Reigh Count, Kentucky derby winner; Anita Peabody, Futurity winner, and Nettie Stone, $25,000 filly.

SON AND $710 MISSING

L. I. Smith, of 934 Heberton avenue, reported to city detectives that his son, K. A. Smith, 21, and $710 had disappeared from his home early today.

It's the talk of the town—the 4-Page Color Comic Section published every week day as a big part of the Evening Sun-Telegraph.

MORE PERMITS REVOKED FOR FAKING AUTO TESTS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 14.—(AP.) — Suspension of drivers' licenses of four more men for implication in schemes to have experienced drivers substitute for learners in taking the tests of the highway patrol is announced by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Accompanying the announcement was a threat that unless the practice was stopped the next Legislature would be asked to pass a law requiring all applicants for learner's permits to supply photographs. Sixteen suspensions have been made this year.

How to Reduce High Blood Pressure

There is only one way to reduce high blood pressure and that is by correcting the condition which has caused it. The first thing to do is to rid your system of the deadly body poisons that are being absorbed into the blood stream, affecting every vital organ and threatening apoplexy.

You can do it easily and quickly with Lithurie Salts, a pleasant sparkling drink composed of natural mineral salts and the fruit acids of lemons and grapes. Body poisons are removed through flushing of the intestines; the liver is stimulated and the kidneys assisted to do their body purifying work. If you get a package of Lithurie Salts at any May Drug Co. Store, or any other good druggist and start taking it tomorrow morning, you should soon note a remarkable improvement in your condition.

GENE GOING TO EUROPE BEFORE WEDDING

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Gene Tunney tried his best today to live up to his new role of a private citizen rather than the retired, undefeated heavyweight champion.

Tunney came home yesterday from St. John's Island, Me., where he had been a guest at the home of his fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Lauder. He used a disguise to leave Maine, left the train at a suburban station in New York and then went to his hotel, thus evading reporters.

The former champion contends his affairs no longer are of interest to the public, since he has retired from the ring.

It did become known through friends, however, that rumors of Tunney's immediate marriage are incorrect. He plans to sail Thursday for Europe with Thornton Wilder, the novelist. The rumor had circulated that Tunney would be married before leaving on the European trip.

Last night Tunney was the guest of honor at a dinner given by James I. Bush. Among those at the dinner were Commander Richard E. Byrd, Tex Rickard, Samuel P. Pryor, Jr., Charles V. Bob, John McE. Bowman, Bernard F. Gimbel, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Caleb Bragg and Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely.

Also it was learned that Tunney has been promoted to captain in the Marine Reserve Corps. He was made a lieutenant just after he won the heavyweight title from Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia.

WOMAN HURT IN STORE DIES; $50,000 ASKED

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Alfred A. Campbell, 54, whose hip was fractured April 30 by falling on the floor of the Woolworth store in Dover, died suddenly in her wheel chair of a heart attack. A $50,000 suit against the Woolworth firm is pending in the Cuyahoga County Appellate Court on grounds that the floor was being oiled when the store was open for business, causing the accident.

100 STITCHES CLOSE RAZOR FIGHT WOUNDS

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 14.—One hundred stitches were required to close stab wounds of Larney Shields, Negro, 24, a patient at Memorial Hospital, who was slashed with a razor during a fight yesterday. James Scott, 24, Negro, arrested and accused of slashing Shields, was cut on the wrist and it required six stitches to close his wound.

CALLS TEN HERBS GODSEND TO HOME

Carnegie Mother and Two Children Helped Back to Health by Famous Medicine.

"Ten Herbs helped me so much that I decided to give it to my children, and it seemed to be just what their systems required," was the statement of Mrs. Guy Mapstone, 609 Washington Avenue, Carnegie, Pa.,

MRS. GUY MAPSTONE

(near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

"During the past year my stomach had been in such bad condition that I had to live on the lightest kind of diet, mostly soups," Mrs. Mapstone continued. "Food would sour and ferment and gas would form and work up around my heart. The pain was very severe and would work up to the base of my brain. During these bad spells I would have to sit down, and often I feared I would not live from one day to the next. I was constipated and this caused my liver to become sluggish. I was always bilious and had sieges of terrible headaches. Half the time I was not able to do my housework.

"A friend recommended Ten Herbs, and I could notice an improvement after taking the first bottle. My bowels became regular. My appetite improved, and now I can eat almost anything without having gas or heart palpitation. My liver is working properly, and biliousness and headaches are gone. I have renewed strength and ambition. My nine-year-old son had lost his appetite and was not himself in general. I gave your medicine to him and my twelve-year-old daughter. They now have a better appetite, and their eyes are brighter and complexions clearer. Ten Herbs seems to cleanse and purify the entire system. Your medicine has been a godsend to our home and for this reason I gladly recommend it to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

That Typically August Answer, "Out of Town," Greets One Everywhere on Telephone

Stay-at-Homes Having Summer Resort Weather

IF YOU have been trying to reach any of your friends by telephone you are, no doubt, wondering, as I am, whether or not Pittsburgh will be completely deserted within a few days. Everywhere one gets that typically "August" answer, "Out of town"—although those folks who went away to escape the heat must be a bit dismayed by the local weather reports just now. This is real "summer resort" weather, and we can combine it with all the comforts of home.

The J. Merrill Wright family, of Beechwood boulevard, is among those whose members have scattered to the four winds during the last few weeks. Mr. Wright and his younger son, J. Merrill Wright, Jr., are at West Point at the present time, I hear, stopping at the Thayer. And his daughter, Mrs. George S. Hoster, Laura Wright "that was," is up in Detroit with her husband. The young Hosters live at The Fairfax—which was formerly the Fifth Avenue apartments, you know—and they are spending several weeks with Mr. Hoster's father, Carl Hoster.

You might be interested in knowing that George Hoster is scheduled to be an usher at two important weddings in Detroit during the coming autumn. He will be a member of the bridal party when Frances Alger marries Harold R. Boyer, and again at the wedding of Ann Gray and Joseph S. Sherer, Jr.

THE engagement of still another Head girl has just been announced in New York, I've been told. This is Stella, and she is going to marry Victor Charles Bell, of New York, according to the announcement made by her mother, Mrs. Morris Head, of New Rochelle. When she is married in the late autumn, Stella will be the fourth sister in the family to take unto herself a husband. They are granddaughters, you know, of the late Judge John B. Head, formerly of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, and nieces of Col. Henry Coulter, the well-known sportsman of Greensburg.

Mr. Bell is a member of the Rockwood Country Club, the Larchmont Shore Club and the Ox Ridge Hunt Club. The wedding will take place in New York, I understand.

TO return for a moment to the subject of traveling, I find that Mary Cree Porter, of Peebles street, Sewickley, left on Sunday to visit Mrs. William Kerr at Bluefield, Me. Later on, she expects to join her sister, Martha, at Sapphire, N. C. And Peggy Leiper, daughter of the Callender Irvine Leipers, of Academy avenue, Sewickley, is home again after visiting Eleanor Guckes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Guckes, of Philadelphia, at their cottage at Harwichport, Mass.

I'VE been told that Leslie Buswell's estate at Gloucester, Mass., is going to be the scene of a concert given by Zlatko Balokovic, the well-known violinist, who is the husband of Mrs. William Borden's daughter, Joyce Jordan. Perhaps you remember that Mr. Balekovic came to America about three years ago, met Joyce and after a tempestuous courtship carried her overseas to his native Croatia. The concert is scheduled for some time early in September, before Mr. Buswell marries Mary Armstrong, of Beechwood boulevard, and they leave for their wedding trip. The wedding is set for September 11.

AMONG the folks who live in the Schenley apartments, the majority have gone out of town. The W. L. Mitchells are in Europe, where they will remain until early winter. And the J. E. Laughlins, with their son, are motoring in the East and expect to spend some time in Atlantic City. Mrs. J. M. Milliken is away, too. She is spending a few weeks with friends at the Westchester-Biltmore Club, Rye, N. Y.

MR. AND MRS. F. C. KIRCHNER, of Princeton avenue, Youngstown, O., have made known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice Kirchner, and J. Thomas Stubbins, of Chicago, formerly of Pittsburgh. After a trip through Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Stubbins will be at home in the Broadale Apartments, Elmdale avenue, Chicago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stubbins are graduates of Ohio State University. Mrs. Stubbins is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

ANNOUNCEMENT hasbeen made of the engagement of Miss Augusta Caroline Knobloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Knobloch, of Erie, to Preston T. Large, of this city, son of the late Preston T. Large and Mrs. Large, of North Tonawanda and Buffalo. An early September wedding is planned. Miss Knobloch is a graduate of Barnard College and Columbia University, and has just finished a two years' course at the School of Social Sciences, Western Reserve University. Mr. Large is a Harvard man.

THE marriage of Miss Charlotte Cox Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peers Collins, of College Hill, Cincinnati, and Norris Miller Hook, of Pittsburgh, will be solemnized September 22 at 5:30 o'clock in the Collins home. Mrs. William LaRay Roach will be her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Walter Irvin, sister of the bridegroom, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Hook, Jr. Howard Hook, Jr., is to be his brother's best man, and the ushers will be Dr. William LaRay Roach and Tom Swan, of this city. Virginia Upson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Upson, of Cincinnati, will be flower girl.

THE wedding of Miss Dorothy Sylvia Baumgarth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Baumgarth, of Euclid Heights boulevard, Cleveland Heights, and Herbert A. Krow, son of Eugene Krow, of Union avenue, McKeesport, will be solemnized tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Temple Cleveland, by Rabbi A. H. Silver. A dinner at the Alcazar will follow.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN EDWIN HUTCHINSON, of Shady avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Hutchinson, to William Gibson Foster, son of Mrs. Charles F. Foster, of Elgin avenue. The wedding will take place early in September.

THE marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Brinkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Brinkman, of South Graham street, and W. James Steen, of Millvale avenue, son of Mrs. James Brown Steen and the late Maj. Steen, was solemnized yesterday morning in St. Paul's Cathedral by the Rev. Joseph Byrne. Miss Alice G. Brinkman was her sister's maid of honor and John M. Sullivan was best man. Mr. Steen is a University of Pittsburgh graduate.

BRIDGE

Kappa Chapter, Theta Phi Alpha, national social sorority, University of Pittsburgh, entertained with a bridge luncheon at the Food Craft Shop. At one of the tables sat Mrs. Mary McGinley, Mrs. Mary Sweeney, Mrs. Margaret Lawton and Mrs. John Martin. The affair was a benefit for the organization's scholarship fund.

COMMITTEE

The committee which planned the affair included Miss Ruth Matteson, Miss Helen Ignelzi, Miss Hilda Marie Palmer, Miss Bernadette Connolly, Miss Valetta McCullough, Miss Alice Walton, Miss Alice Kelly, Miss Mary Jane Beggy (seated above), Mrs. Emma Gene Hohman, Miss Sara E. Schwerer and Mrs. Isabelle Rowan (standing).

CAPE MAY POPULAR WITH CLUB WOMEN

CAPE MAY is this year proving more popular than ever with Pittsburgh clubwomen and their families. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hamnett, the latter a member of the Southern Club, have returned from a fortnight's visit at Carroll Villa. Mrs. Newell G. Alford, also a Southern Club member, is another Cape May visitor and the Rev. Dr. Robert Nelson Meade, chaplain for the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, has just concluded a two-weeks' visit at the Colonial. A number of Pittsburghers have been registered at Sea Crest Inn. Mrs. E. M. Neumann, of the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club, and her family, are still there. Mrs. J. Fred Allen, a member of Daylight Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Mr. Allen and their two little daughters, Jane Baird and Margaret Fawcett Allen, were at Sea Crest as were also Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Long, of Squirrel Hill, and their children, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Johanasson, of Edgewood, and their daughters, Josephine and Marjorie. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Edwards have taken a cottage at the Cape for the summer and another Pittsburgh summer home is that of the Russell Mitchells, who have, at present, Mrs. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Noble, of Dunmoyle place, with them. Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, a member of the Woman's City Club, is spending August at the Cape, accompanied by her family.

THE department of the American home of the Congress of Clubs has arranged for a luncheon meeting on September 7, at which the speakers will be Miss Karen Fladoes, of Utility Hall, and E. R. Harding, of the Mellon Institute. Miss Fladoes will give a talk on home preserving and canning, showing how such tasks may be simplified, while Mr. Harding will speak on factory canned goods, giving a comparison of costs.

MRS. C. M. MITSHELEN has been appointed chairman of class 1, perennials and roses, for the flower show and garden party which the garden section of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club will give on August 22. Artistic posters, advertising the event, have been made by Mrs. William Phillips, a member of the section, and are on display in the Mt. Lebanon stores. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners who are members of the section, but only ribbons will be given those winning who are nonmembers. The affair will be held at the home of the section chairman, Mrs. Paul Bolger, in Washington road.

THE Girls' 57 Club was entertained at a corn roast at Eden Hall Farm, the country home of Sebastian Mueller, near Bakerstown, on Saturday. There was a program of sports and dancing on an open pavilion. A cafeteria lunch was served on the lawn. Major prizes were won by Miss Fanny Bacskovisch, Miss Eva L. Harts and Miss Nellis Klotz. Miss Amelia Wilt is club president.

IT IS interesting to note, according to the Congress of Clubs "Outlet," that club institutes, which were unheard of in this country until a few years ago, are now being conducted in Shanghai, China. Club institute day was held recently in the rooms of the British Women's Association.

MADE MUTE BY DEATH OF SON, FATHER DIES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Stricken mute when he received news of the death of his son last Wednesday, D. C. Spencer, 74, Louisa (Ky.) storekeeper, died at his home there yesterday without having regained his speech. The son Ed. K. Spencer, junior editor of the Big Sandy News, died after an operation at a Huntington hospital.

WEST VIRGINIA FARMER ENDS LIFE BY HANGING

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Earl L. Jefferson, 33, a farmer, hanged himself in a barn yesterday. Fear of losing his mind was blamed.

PROSECUTOR'S FOE JAILED

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Walter Perrin, convicted on two counts of violating the prohibition laws, was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $800 in Greene County Court here yesterday.

Perrin was one of the men who signed a petition, some months ago, seeking the removal of District Attorney O. R. Hughes, charging the official was not qualified to hold the position because a state law required a district attorney be admitted to practice before the State Supreme and Superior courts at least 18 months before his election.

Hughes was admitted to practice before the two courts immediately after the law was passed, but it was the contention of the petitioners that he did not qualify under the 18 months' clause.

The matter was submitted to the State Attorney General, who has not yet rendered a decision.

Your Lucky Day

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Wouldn't you call it a lucky day when you found a hair dressing that ended wave troubles for the summer season? Here it is. Wave and Sheen is the only product I have found which will keep the hair in perfect trim.

Apply it before waving or setting your wave. (I use a comb. It can be applied with a brush). Then put in your curlers, or set your wave if you have a permanent. By the time you are ready to dress, your hair will have not only a soft, flattering wave but a glorious sheen. On the hottest days you can be happy in the knowledge that your hair is in keeping with your dainty summer toilette.

Get a bottle of Wave and Sheen today at any toilet counter. Your 75 cents back if you are not pleased.

"Boys will be boys"—happy boys—only when they're healthy boys. And who wouldn't be both happy and healthy after breakfasts of Heinz Rice Flakes—the crispy, crunchy, new cereal food with a flavor like toasty nutmeats?

Those are breakfasts that start folks off right...And that keep them "right".

For, by a special Heinz process, Heinz Rice Flakes are naturally "laxatized" by the use of the natural roughage of the rice itself. This process was developed by Heinz. It is owned exclusively by Heinz. In no other cereal food can you get the precise laxative qualities of Heinz Rice Flakes. So gentle. So natural! Grown-ups as well as youngsters like Heinz Rice Flakes for they add to the "Joy of Living" and the fun of good health.

TASTE GOOD—DO GOOD

AIRPORT SITE IS PICKED

October 20, last, after a special committee composed of Mr. Braun, A. L. Humphrey and W. L. Monro had recommended that such a committee be named.

Besides Mr. Braun, Mr. Humphrey, president, Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and Mr. Monro, president, American Window Glass Company, the committee is composed of James Francis Burke, former member of Congress and now attorney to the Republican National Committee; Morris Knowles, internationally known engineer; John F. Casey, constructor and capitalist, and H. H. McClintic, of McClintic-Marshall Company.

ADVANTAGES CITED

In announcing its preference for the Lebanon road site, the committee cites that:

"It has an elevation above 1,250 feet with no surrounding obstacles, is adjacent to two large gas lines, an electric power line, a six-inch water main a mile away, railroad facilities at the property, electric railway service a mile away, relative freedom from fog and smoke, availability to downtown section without passing through congested traffic areas, ample room for automobile parking and for shops, houses and other operating facilities. Ample space is available adjacent to the site for development of aircraft manufactures.

"Acquisition and equipment of a municipal airport," the committee points out, "must be followed by careful operation. This requires the utmost skill and technical understanding in management.

"The equipment and facilities for landing, storage, administration, housing, sleeping quarters, conveniences, eating, fire-fighting and the signaling and marking must be of the best. This is necessary in order that Pittsburgh may take its place, predominant in aeronautical development and secure therefrom the profits commensurate with the potentialities and possibilities of this rapidly growing activity. The city must prepare itself in every particular."

AIDED BY FLIERS

The committee expresses thanks to the special civic club committee, composed of members of every luncheon club in the city, and to a special technical committee composed of fliers, which made a detailed ground and air inspection of every one of the approximate 200 sites suggested.

The luncheon club committee was composed of John J. Feery, Aero club; Samuel Harper, American Business club; Robert A. Laedlein, American Legion Post No. 59; Frank M. Leavitt, Co-operative club; A. G. Trimble, Kiwanis club; J. A. Phillips, Lions club; C. Verne Shoup, Mercator club; Guy M. Williamson, Monarch club; R. A. McGregor, Optimistic club, and Thomas A. Dunn, Rotary club.

HOW SITE WAS CHOSEN

The technical committee was composed of: Raymond M. Marlier, past president, Aero Club of Pittsburgh, chairman; Walter Chambers, aviation editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, secretary; Louis T. Barry and William J. Snyder, members, City-County Air Board; Col. William Thaw, noted war-time ace; John J. Peery, Robert E. Dake, Board of Governors, Aero Club, and Capt. Thomas S. Voss, commandant, Rodgers Field, the present municipal airport.

The report cites how the committee, originally expecting to complete its work by January 1, found that the problem was one of vital interest to the future of Pittsburgh. It therefore "prepared a questionnaire which was sent out to all sections of the county, widely advertised, and produced a flood of suggestions." Each of these suggested sites was then given a preliminary inspection. Those obviously without possibilities were discarded. The others were submitted to a second inspection and by a comparative analysis, others were discarded.

About 30 sites were finally submitted from which the final selection was to be made. A table of relative values was then prepared. It was arranged as follows:

	Points.
Distance from business district	15
Size, physical features, etc.	15
Accessibility by transportation	14
Adjacent factory sites and railroads	14
Emergency fields adjacent	10
Wind, fog and smoke	10
Cost of property and conversion	8
Distinguishing landmarks for visitors	7
Seaplane station in proximity	5
Fire protection	2
Total	100

The final selection of the airport site was made on the basis of this table. Each member of the committee made a separate rating and the eight were averaged. At numerous times the committee believed that a site answering the requirements had been found. The thorough investigation to which each was submitted, however, required a readjustment of its opinion. The site selected registered 76 per cent perfect.

When the sites had been narrowed down to seven, the County Planning Commission engineers were asked to make contour maps of each, to develop the amount and cost of leveling to the airport requirements.

MONEY IN SIGHT

Work on the airport, the committee hopes, will begin as soon as the officials, after adoption of the report, acquire the property. Mr. Braun estimated that the land would cost "a few hundred dollars per acre." The $1,500,000 in the county bond issue, added to $500,000 promised by City Council, while not completing the airport to its final possibilities, will provide an A-1 rating by the Department of Commerce.

Efforts of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh and Capt. Voss, of Rodgers Field, to have an aerological station established by the United States Weather Bureau here, probably will be successful if the recommendations of the committee for "complete lighting and signaling equipment" is carried out by authorities.

LEST WE FORGET—BABES NEED MILK IN ALL SEASONS

A single gift today brings the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund to $1,475.43. This lone contribution is from Naomi Solomon and is for $2.

When the weather takes a cooler turn some folks are apt to forget that the work of the Milk and Ice Association goes right on, no matter what fare the weather man is serving the city.

As a matter of fact, the work of the association goes steadily on winter and summer and it is to cover the expense of an entire year, not merely that of the summer, that the fund is making its appeal.

Expenses are not quite so heavy in the winter as during the warm months, because there are not quite so many pleas for aid, but, nevertheless, hundreds of babies are carried on the books of the association all the year round.

Heat increases the problems which face the mothers of tiny babies and who, through lack of means, are forced to apply to the association for help. At present more than 300 babies are being cared for by the organization and that each one of these may have its quart of certified milk every day, it takes approximately $450, or $1.50 a week per baby. Will you not help the fund to save these babies?

HEARST TROPHY IN AIR RACE SILVER CUP

By A. M. ROCHLEN.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—(U.S.)—Donation by George Hearst, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, of a magnificent silver loving cup to be presented as a prize in the national air races in September was announced here yesterday by officials of the aviation event.

The cup will be known as the Hearst Pacific Coast Aviation Trophy, and will be awarded to the pilot making the best time in the California air race.

Two classes of planes will participate in this race. The San Francisco-to-Los Angeles derby will be known as Class A, and will start from Mills Field September 11. Planes with motors up to 510 cubic inches will be in this race.

Class B will have planes of the 800 cubic inch type, and will be run from Oakland municipal airport on September 12.

The San Francisco planes will make a 30-minute stop in Visalia and the Oakland planes will be required to make a control stop in Bakersfield.

Best elapsed time for the flight from San Francisco Bay will be considered as the basis for the award of this special trophy.

The Hearst cup will be presented in addition to the various prizes offered by the California Air Race Association, the prizes, for all events, aggregating more than $200,000.

A Gift, My Dear

For Getting Slender

Excess fat means a serious blight to beauty, to health and vitality. Many a husband, if wives only knew, would give much to see it ended. Why not make a bargain?

The way is not hard, not unpleasant. Simply correct the cause, which often lies in a gland deficiency. Leading scientists, thirty years ago, discovered that cause for obesity. Their method of correction has now spread the world over. Physicians everywhere employ it.

Marmola prescription tablets embody that method. People have used them for twenty years—millions of boxes of them.

You see the results in every circle. Perhaps many of your friends can tell them. Excess fat, as you can see, is far less common than it was.

Abnormal exercise or diet is neither required nor advised, but moderation helps. The aim is to correct the cause—in faulty nutrition—in the best way known to modern science.

There are no secrets about Marmola. The complete formula appears in every package, also all known reasons for results. You will know the reasons for loss of fat, for the new vitality and health. So you will have no reason to suspect harm from results which seem so magical.

If you over-weigh, you owe to yourself a test of Marmola. Simply take four tablets daily and watch how the fat disappears. Not too rapidly, but in the right way, by correcting a deficiency.

Probably Marmola has proved itself worth its weight in gold to friends of yours. Learn now what it means to you. You cannot afford excess fat.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1.00 per box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

LOWDEN PRAISE SEEN AS O. K. ON HOOVER

Do You Know Your Own 'Traffic Cop?'

FRIEND OF YOURS?

How many of Pittsburgh's "traffic cops" do you know? Can you call by name the chap nearest your home? The fellow you pass halfway to your office in the morning? The men who wave you through downtown streets? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is introducing them to Pittsburgh. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS THOMAS LEONARD, UNMARRIED, 4833 BUTLER STREET, WHO CAN BE FOUND BY DAY AT DIAMOND AND GRANT STREETS. HE HAS SPENT FOUR AND A HALF OF HIS FIVE YEARS' POLICE SERVICE AS A TRAFFIC OFFICER.

LOWDEN PRAISE SEEN AS O. K. ON HOOVER

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug., 14.—The comment of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, on the acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover was viewed by political leaders today as a sort of passive indorsement of the Republican presidential nominee.

Lowden, recognized leader of the Middle Western farm belt, has remained in virtual retirement since the national convention at Kansas City—a convention that went against Lowden and most of his treasured plans for farm relief.

"MUCH IMPRESSED"

His announcement, made through John G. Oglesby, former lieutenant governor and now head of the farm bureau committee of the Republican National Committee, broke a conspicuous political silence and put the former Illinois governor on record.

"I am much impressed by Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech as a whole," was the meat of the Lowden announcement. It continued:

"With reference to agriculture, his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most economic problem in our nation today is very heartening.

"I have stated, I think a thousand times, that a general acknowledgement that the problem exists would be half the battle. If there had been such recognition years ago, the agricultural situation would be vastly different today.

APPROVES AIMS

"Mr. Hoover's aspirations to bring the farm population up to economic equality with other groups has my heartiest approval. I think, however, it will be found practically that his proposed stabilization corporation can only attain the object which he hopes to accomplish if the cost to the corporation of stabilizing the price of any commodity be distributed over the commodity involved and not taken from the public treasury.

"In my judgment, Mr. Hoover's statement fails to give assurance of the means that will be adequate to secure the ends promised. He promises higher tariffs, waterway improvement and a farm board to set up stabilization corporations financed by government loans. This last proposal was the basis of the Crisp bill, which Congress rejected in the last session and which failed to secure farm support.

"Mr. Hoover says the tariff is the foundation of farm relief and promises to use his office and influence to give the farmer the full benefit of our historic tariff policy.

"For five years, Western farmers have demanded not only that agricultural tariffs be adequate, but that a way be found to make such tariffs effective on that portion of our surplus crops consumed at home. On the latter, Mr. Hoover is silent. This question has been too much in the forefront of farm relief discussion to be ignored. Farmers will want this question answered before they go to the polls in November."

Honest!

CHRISTOPHER DIULIO

Christopher Diulio, buying his little home at 3132 Sorrento street and buying all those little things that two children need, is no opportunist. Rather, he is honest. When he found a fat billfold in Conway yards, Pennsylvania Railroad, he reported it. William Romanovitch, San Francisco mining engineer, was glad to get it back and rewarded Mr. Diulio.

RECEIVES THREAT OF DEATH

Threats of murder received by J. C. Trapp, Jr., of Bryn Mawr road, were being investigated today by city detectives.

Trapp notified police yesterday that he had received a letter from persons who signed themselves as the "Terrible Three," and who threatened him with death. The threatened man is a Hill District meat market proprietor and he said he has no known enemies.

The letter was left on the doorstep after some one had rapped on the door Sunday night. Detectives believe it the work of a crank. The note was written in pencil, apparently by an uneducated person.

PERSHING IN CRASH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Gen. John J. Pershing escaped unhurt when the automobile in which he was sitting at Thirty-fifth and M streets, N. W., yesterday, was struck by a heavy motor truck.

Gen. Pershing was in an Army motor car, driven by his chauffeur, when the machine was held up by an adverse traffic signal. The truck, just ahead in the line of traffic, suddenly backed into the General's car.

Both Gen. Pershing and his chauffeur were jarred and the machine was slightly damaged.

OIL STOVE EXPLODES, FIRE DESTROYS HOME

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Aug. 14.—An oil stove explosion caused a fire destroying the home of M. H. Burnett, North Sewickley township. The family and neighbors saved the household effects.

FOUR DORMONT PLACES ROBBED

Although at the Dormont Police Station yesterday it was denied that burglars had enjoyed a week-end harvest in the borough, county detectives today revealed that a meat market and three homes in an apartment had been entered. A small safe containing $390 in cash and checks was carted away from the Saville meat market at 3203 West Liberty avenue. In an apartment building at 2931 West Liberty avenue the burglars used pass keys and garnered $20 from the home of W. D. Westfield, $50 worth of articles from the home of W. W. Teague and a $250 necklace from the home of Dr. Joseph Cerra.

MYSTERY YARN AUTHOR, LOUIS TRACY, EXPIRES

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Louis Tracy, author of many novels and detective stories, died yesterday at his home near Ashford, Kent. He was born in 1863, and educated privately in Yorkshire and France. In early life he varied his journalistic career with travels in India and the United States. He was attached to the headquarters staff of the British War Mission in the United States in 1917 and in 1921 collected in America a large sum for the restoration of Westminster Abbey. He was a member of the Lotos Club, New York.

Federal Judge Isaac M. Meekins, New York, who has heard Helen Morgan, Tex Guinan and others plead "not guilty" since indictment for selling liquor in their night clubs, thinks the only quick way of ending bootlegging is for government manufacture and sale of liquor to United States people.

Downtown Thugs Get Diamond

Police are searching for two armed bandits who, while scores of pedestrians were passing, leaped from an automobile at Wood and Water streets yesterday and held up Lucius Trenton, 53, of California, Pa., tearing a $1,300 diamond ring from his finger.

Approaching with drawn guns, the two commanded Trenton to be silent. Then one of them grabbed his left hand and tore off the ring, lacerating his finger.

Trenton, a yardmaster for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, was on his way to the railroad station to return home when the holdup occurred. The robbers made no attempt to take his watch or money.

Detectives have a description of the men.

POLICE NAB SUSPECTS, PREVENT HILL HOLDUP

Crying out when two Negroes attempted to rob him at Whitcomb and Fullerton streets, late last night, Theodore Howard, of 6506 Winslow street, saved his valuables and caused the arrest of the alleged highwaymen. Two patrolmen who ran to Howard's aid arrested Arthur Stevens, 18, a Negro, of 1323 Webster avenue on a suspicious person charge. They later arrested William Gilmore, 21, also a Negro, at his home at 239 Ravenna way, as an accomplice.

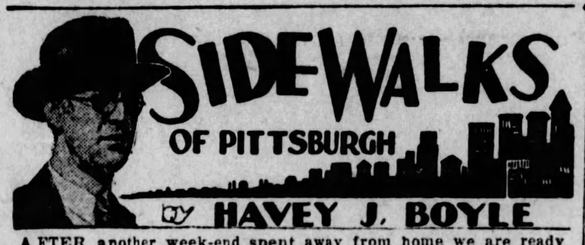
35-MI. AN HOUR FOR SAFETY NEW CHICAGO SPEED LIMIT

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Thirty-five miles an hour, which once was regarded as a suicidal city speed, has been established as a legal limit in portions of the Lincoln Park boulevard system, starting today.

Lincoln Park commissioners believe this is the first time such a speed has been legalized within the corporate limits of a large American city.

"More speed and less danger" are the objectives the board hopes to attain. Traffic using the outer drive from the Loop to the 4000 block north will be permitted to travel 35 miles an hour. Motorists who prefer a slower speed may follow the inner drive through the park, where 25 miles an hour will be enforced.

Carl Ames, secretary of the board, said the higher speed limit is expected to reduce the number of park accidents, which now average 100 a month.



AFTER another week-end spent away from home we are ready to verify the old saying that the spirit is willing but the flesh are weak.

THIS paragraph is a request to the circulation department to add a few extra copies to the agents in Zelienople, Pa. Here is the reason:

My Dear Sir: Read in your column recently that someone had told you Pittsburgh had the prettiest girls in the country. He's wrong. I don't know how much of the country he has seen, but he certainly has not been around a whole lot. Pittsburgh has some little honeys, but for its size—blah. I've covered the eastern half of the United States quite thoroughly and my pick is—don't laugh—Zelienople, Pa. More good looking, modern, snappily-dressed girls there in proportion to population than any other town or city I've ever been in. Next in line comes Anderson, S. C., and boy, I know whereof I speak, cause it is a hobby of mine. Any time you care to be convinced let me know and I'll act as your guide." Signed, Edward Murray, Beaver, Pa.

The whole matter has been turned over to the silly bachelors on the staff. Our faith in beauty judgment weakens nearly every time we see a picture of a prize winner. We always get an idea that some of the ballot boxes have been stuffed or the votes were inaccurately weighed instead of counted.

It would have been our luck, of course, that the fellow we rejected when he asked for money would be on the level, so we called him back. It was at Smithfield street and Oliver avenue. "I'd rather have a job than ask for money this way," he said, "but I can't get a job and I'm pretty far from home—California." (We were glad he hadn't asked us for carfare.)

"How do you do on the average in bumming meal money?" we asked as we walked along together. "You were the fourth fellow I struck today, and got turned down every time. I guess they were short, too. I wait until this time of the day, late afternoon, before asking for help, for unless I am desperately hungry I can't get up enough nerve to beg."

Owing to the angles of the traffic lanes the semaphore close to the entrance of the Pennsylvania station shows both the Stop and the Go signs to motorists at one and the same time. The motorist tosses a coin and decides in that fashion whether he should stop or go. On his lucky day he does the right thing, and on his bad days he hears the policeman ask him where the you-know he is going, and if that is a cow he is just driving in from the farm. The motorist pulls himself together, waits until he gets well beyond earshot, and then in a scared voice whispers: "If I had time I'd write a letter to the papers about this."

8 HORSES BURN TO DEATH

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 14.—Fire early today swept the riding academy and storage barns of M. J. Brady & Sons and damaged the Elks home and several nearby business houses and dwellings. The damage was estimated at $30,000.

Eight horses were burned to death and 15 automobiles destroyed in the barns of the riding academy. On account of an alleged defect in the fire alarm system volunteer firemen were late in being summoned and did not reach the fire until it had attained considerable headway.

BARRED FROM PAINTING HOME, OHIOAN APPEALS

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Aug. 14.—James B. Frey, New Cumberland, has applied to Common Pleas Court for relief from the decision of a Warren township justice whereby he is not allowed to set his ladder on the lot of a neighbor, James Scott, in order to paint his house. Frey claims that the line fence is only 26 inches from his house and that it is a physical impossibility for him to paint without trespassing.

WAR VETERANS' DAY AT KENNYWOOD AUGUST 25

Dig down into the memory trunk, buddies, and check up on when you joined the Army, and how! That's all you'll need to throw open the gates to Kennywood Park a week from next Saturday at the tenth grand reunion of American veterans.

It's going to be a grand reunion of those who fought for the United States from the Civil War down to the latest uprising in Nicaragua.

There'll be booths at the gates of Kennywood where veterans may give their pedigrees. Discharge papers, Legion or discharge buttons, or any other credentials showing the outfit in which one served will be sufficient to get the pass into all the Kennywood amusements.

Civil War veterans, members or not of the Grand Army of the Republic, and wounded World War veterans now in Pittsburgh hospitals will be special guests of The Sun-Telegraph at the Grand reunion. Automobiles will be provided to take them to and from the park, partly by Pittsburghers who want to help, and by dealers who haven't forgotten the stirring war days.

The American Red Cross will have four first-aid stations and there will be Salvation Army huts with doughnuts and coffee. It'll be a grand reunion, buddies, 10 years after.

Composers to Bury 'Asleep in Deep' Author

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The body of Arthur J. Lamb, composer of "Asleep in the Deep" and other favorite songs, will be saved from burial in Potter's Field.

I. M. Sackin, his attorney, said the body of the composer would be brought to New York from Providence, R. I., where he died, and given burial by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, at the time of his death only $3.90 in cash was found in his pockets. Sackin said Lamb's only known relative is an aunt in Bath, England.

WITNESSES REFUSE TO TALK AGAINST DETECTIVE

Charges against Precinct Detective William Warnock, of the motorcycle division in the West End police district, were not substantiated when he was arraigned in Morals Court today.

Witnesses called to appear against Warnock refused to testify and Magistrate A. D. Brandon, commenting upon Warnock's previous good record, reserved his decision. The case will come up for final action at the Police Trial Board tomorrow when Warnock will face charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.

JUST AN "ARGUMENT"

Allegations that Warnock had gone on a "rampage" Saturday night while returning from a party were explained in the testimony as having been the result of an "argument" between the detective and his wife.

J. H. Love, of 835 Coast street, testified that Warnock and his wife were engaged in an argument in front of his home and, fearing they would come to blows, he attempted to act as peacemaker, but later retreated into the house. His mother, Mrs. Anna Love, 76, he said, was standing in the doorway and was struck a light blow in the face.

Mrs. Love refused to testify.

"It was all an accident," she explained, "and this case should not have been brought into Morals Court. The Warnocks have been neighbors of ours for years and we always have been good friends."

"This officer has an exceptionally good record," observed Magistrate Brandon, "and when on duty his duties have been performed faithfully, according to the entire history of his service to the city."

Brandon then announced that he would reserve his decision pending the action of the police trial board. Charges against Warnock were made by Lieut. Edward Arthur on reports received by him.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 14.

According to the Republican press of the country, Hoover's speech ranks right along with Washington's after-dinner effusions and some of Lincoln's monologues.

But according to the Democratic press, it was just another Republican press clipping and is in a "class with all presidential seconding speeches."

But as an independent, I can see much truth and novelty in it.

He was against poverty and favored education, even if you couldn't get into a fraternity.

He said prohibition was a noble experiment, and he believed in noble things, even if they were only experiments.

Yours, WILL.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

"Lightin,'" Presented in Pitt, Reaches Affecting Height in Pathos and Comedy of Court

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

GUS FORBES, who recently played the leading role in "The Music Master," with such artistic distinction as to win a place in the hearts of Pitt audiences, greatly strengthened his position with the followers of the destinies of the George Sharp Players last night through his characterization of the central role in "Lightnin'." His portrayal of the shiftless, prevaricating rum-loving but friendly and harmless old soldier, who, with all his shortcomings, was loyal to his friends, anyway, and whose human weaknesses and warm heart compelled their loyalty to him when trouble came to him, had a heart-touching quality that deeply affected the audience.

It reached pathetic heights in the court room scene in the second act, in which, finding that his wife was seeking a divorce at the instigation of those who wished her free so they could obtain possession of her property, said it would be unnecessary to prove any of the charges made, save that of cruelty, as he would admit them all "and then mother can have her divorce." There were tears in many eyes as the good woman, affected by her husband's devotion, said she had been duped and did not want freedom, whereupon Lightnin' Bill turned pathos to comedy by suddenly asking mother if she had received "that six dollars I sent you."

The court room scene, too, furnished a moment of triumph for Mabel Kroman, who as an actress seeking a divorce, archly turned the court's refusal into a verdict for her by dazzling the judge with meaningful glances after a recourse to tears. A useful scene, that court room, as it also gave opportunity to Bradley Page to spout romantic avowals to Olive Meehan as he labored in a supposed legal defense of his friend Lightnin' Bill Jones, against whom Miss Page, as the foster daughter of the couple, was a witness.

In presenting the play made famous by the late Frank Bacon the company did itself proud and there were honors for everyone, especially those mentioned as well as May Buckley for her picture of the drudge, Mrs. Jones, complaining of Bill's habits but loving him just the same. Mr. Page and Miss Meehan carried the romantic leads with convincing realism and Robert R. Lawrence created laughs with his sheriff part. Robert Fisk and Hugh Harper were effected as the pair conspiring to acquire the Jones property and John W. Moore did an excellent piece of work as the judge.

"FOUR WALLS" IN PENN

"Four Walls," an interesting dramatic photoplay with gangland activities as its foundation and regeneration as its theme, presented in the Penn this week, gives John Gilbert one of the best roles he has had from an acting standpoint. He plays a young gangster in New York who finds himself in prison as a result of crime and while there he learns that the "four walls" that confine him are not the real prison. Contemplation convinces him that his mind is what has imprisoned him and he emerges with the determination to go straight. He casts off his old gang and his old sweetheart, although he loves her, convinced that she would be an anchor. Yet he cannot forget her and goes back to his old haunts for a brief survey of things. His good foot slips and he is on the verge of the abyss again when the girl saves him. Joan Crawford plays the girl with a warmth and emotional skill that wins approval. Vera Gordon does her usual artistic work in a mother role. On the stage the various acts, introduced by Teddy Joyce, who also directs the stage orchestra, are presented under the title, "Harem-Scarem." They include Harry Savoy, comedian, Helen Sagan, singer of blues; Sally Sarraf, Pittsburgh girl, who has been pleasing her friends with her songs in the Penn for several weeks, Braille and Pallo, dancers, and the Foster dancing girls. Short screen features and music round out an enjoyable bill.

SCOTCH COMIC IN HARRIS

Sandy and Douglas are responsible for quite a lot of fun in the vaudeville bill which opened a three-day engagement in the Harris yesterday. There's a sort of travesty on a golf course, a lot of rolling R's and some predominating kilts. Four girls with them do some neat stepping. Also there's a funny impersonation of Al Jolson. Tilyou and Rogers also indulge in comedy. One of them appears as an old gentleman who insists on dancing, and both of them offer amusing steps and chatter. The Three Kitaros, Japanese acrobatics, present feats, which, though not new, are quite difficult. Three Night Club Boys mix dance, song and comedy. Their act may be classed as fair. Maud Ryan and Grace Lyne mix opera and nonsense. Their presentation is nothing to get excited about. Davies and Browne appear in a musical act. Davies tells some humorous yarns and sings some yodel songs, while Browne, his feminine partner, plays the piano. The photoplay is "The Scarlet Dove," featuring Lowell Sherman and presenting a story of Russia. Short features complete the bill.

HOMER SMITH BOOKED FOR SEVERAL OUTINGS

The Chartiers Chapter of De Molay will hold its annual boatride tonight on the excursion steamer Homer Smith.

James F. Graham Lodge, I. O. O. F., will have its yearly excursion on the boat tomorrow night. Thursday night the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will be on board. St. Mark's Episcopal Church has chartered the boat for an all-day excursion to Rochester tomorrow.

"LILAC TIME" IS HIT

"Lilac Time," exceptional film drama which is a hit in the Stanley this week, is marked by its masterful direction, excellent photography, thrilling action, good acting and story interest, as belonging to the photoplays classed as "big." The only detriment is the fact that it is more or less a repetition of "Wings" in its basic element—aviation in the World War. All of its thrilling moments are those we have seen before. And yet it has a large appeal, and interest that is sustained to the end. Colleen Moore is its star and it serves to introduce a new Colleen, one who capably conveys seriousness to the senses as well as the more familiar scintillating comedy for which she is famous, and which she displays in good measure in "Lilac Time." Only now she mixes it with despair—despair, hope and love. Briefly, it is a story of the love of a French peasant girl, whose bravery and feminine impudence inspire flyers quartered in her home, and of an aviator who finally meets disaster. This is the apex from which the tale slopes down to a happy ending with the sweethearts united. The principal comedy scene is a runaway airplane darting here and there over the field, with Colleen in the cockpit, scattering everybody until finally it overturns. Gary Cooper is the aviator hero and he makes a good job of it. As an overture "Nola" features solo variations by various instruments. News pictures and a Vitaphone comedy skit complete a very good bill, the feature picture being so long that other parts of the program are necessarily brief.

LAST WEEK OF GARBER PLAYERS AT SANDERS

Jan Garber opened his second week with his orchestra last night at Sanders, on Freeport highway, Aspinwall, where he plays nightly for dancers. He will end his Sanders' engagement this week.

FOLLOWERS OF THESPIS -:- WHO HAVE PARTS -:- IN CURRENT PROGRAMS

Left—Joan Crawford has the leading feminine role in "Four Walls," heading film section of Penn bill.

Right center—Robert Lawrence, of the George Sharp Players, whose present attraction in Pitt is "Lightnin'."

Right—Colleen Moore as she appears in "Lilac Time," which is the week's feature photoplay in the Stanley.

CAMERMAN IS HERO OF GRAND PHOTOPLAY

"The News Parade," a comedy romance, is this week's photoplay in the Grand. It proves an average program picture, depicting the story of a go-getting newsreel cameman, who is assigned to get the photo of a camera-shy millionaire. And before the close Our Hero not only gets the millionaire's picture—but his daughter also. More than that he thwarts a gang of international kidnapers and rescues father and daughter in the nick of time. Incidentally, Our Hero's name is Newsreel Nick and he is portrayed by Nick Stuart. Sally Phipps is the girl. The stage attraction is presented by the Russian Cossacks.

FACTS ABOUT THESE SHOES at SIX DOLLARS

¶ We decided some time ago to carry a line of shoes at SIX DOLLARS that would surpass any generally retailed at the price.

¶ In conjunction with the buying staffs of fourteen other stores with which we are affiliated, we spent months in the market studying the situation.

¶ Finally we closed a contract with four of the leading shoe manufacturers of the country, makers of fine shoes for women, to produce for our group of stores an ENORMOUS QUANTITY to be used by us during the next TWELVE MONTHS.

¶ The manufacturers are under contract for shoes to retail at SIX DOLLARS that MUST be superior to ANY usually sold at the price. They are also under contract not to sell these SHOES TO ANY OTHER STORE in Pittsburgh.

¶ We have been in the shoe business for many years, and never have we been able to offer to the buying public of Pittsburgh SUCH BEAUTIFUL, HIGH-CLASS SHOES, fashioned in the newest modes of the very best materials at such a price as $6.

WE ASK WOMEN WHO ARE ACCUSTOMED TO PAY $8 to $12 for their SHOES TO SEE THESE AT SIX DOLLARS—THESE SHOES ARE GOING TO REVOLUTIONIZE THE POPULAR PRICE SHOE BUSINESS OF THE CITY.

August Sale of WINTER COATS

$59

Why You Should Buy Your Winter Coat in August—and at Frank & Seder's

You save from $15 to $40 on the $59 coats in regular assortments . . . and as high as $65 on the handsome sample coats.

You Get First Choice...

Of the newest fur trimmings, newest materials and newest styles. Manufacturers are eager to do business in "off season," and so they are willing to make liberal concessions to us to encourage us to hold these sales of winter coats in August.

And We in Turn Must Make a Big Inducement to You, Our Customer, to Get You to Buy Your Winter Coat in August

That's why it is possible to offer coats now for $59 that will be impossible to offer in season when the whole country wants coats. The demand then will be at its peak and manufacturers can dictate their own prices.

These coats now on sale at $59 cannot be duplicated at the price after our present orders have been filled. Manufacturers are already advising us that if we wish to duplicate any of these coats we must pay more than $59, the price you can purchase the garment for now.

Pay a $10 Deposit

In order that those women who do not wish to make an immediate outlay of the entire purchase price, may get the benefit of August Sale values, WE WILL HOLD COATS UNTIL OCTOBER 15TH IF A $10 DEPOSIT IS MADE.

Every Day—New Arrivals!

Every day new sample coats are being shipped to us just as rapidly as they are released from their showrooms. So the woman who comes TOMORROW will find just as many outstanding values as her sister who was here earlier.

And Last, But Far From the Least—

If you did not happen to be here the opening day of the sale, don't think that you missed the prizes, because this sale was planned for the entire month of August. We placed enough advance orders with the manufacturers to keep us supplied with more than enough garments to keep our assortments intact throughout the entire month. Sizes for women, misses and larger women.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

SITTIN' PRETTY

By ANN HARDY

MR. SNIPES had invested heavily in real estate when the boom came to his home town. Now everything he possessed was in land and buildings, and he had very little income to meet current obligations.

He had been a dreamer all his life. Nobody would have guessed this to have seen Mr. Snipes; he was slightly bald, slightly stooped, and there was a timid, half-apologetic expression most of the time in his faded blue eyes. This expression was the psychological result of his marriage in early youth to Miss Sallie Willett.

Everybody knew the Willetts were superior folk, and nobody in town had been more astonished when Sallie accepted and married George Snipes than had been George himself. They had now been wed for 20 years, and during that time Mr. Snipes had dreamed of a great moment which would come to him—for he had a naive faith in his fate—when by a fine sagacity and splendid daring he would seize the opportunity for making a killing—strike it rich.

So under the eyes of Sallie, whom Mr. Snipes loved devotedly, but of whom he stood in helpless awe, he had saved and scrimped as faithfully as had any other hard-working clerk in the Johnson Realty Company, Inc. When the boom struck Camden he had $10,000 in Liberty bonds and owned the house in which they had lived for a good many years.

What will 20 years of training in prudence and conservatism amount to in the face of a challenge from Fate to a dauntless soul? Mr. Snipes eagerly snatched what he was convinced was a golden opportunity. He cashed in his bonds and bought suburban property, putting first and second mortgages thereon in order to spread his capital and increase his holdings. He only bought outright when he must, and in a month he was a large property owner in a speculative way.

His enthusiasm had been slightly dashed when Mrs. Snipes learned of his plunge into the real estate game. "So you sold the bonds?" she questioned him, a note of stern accusation in her placid tone.

Mrs. Snipes had looked at him in silence, then, but strange to say the hardy, flinty expression had gone out of her face, and into it had crept a wistfulness Mr. Snipes remembered having seen there some 20 years ago. It made her look younger, though not so contented and smug; somehow it touched his heart. "Believe me, me," he declared with startling emphasis, "we're going to be sittin' pretty—you and me!"

During the next month it looked very much as though he had struck rock bottom. In order to acquire certain of his holdings, he had had to buy outright a strip of marshy land on the edge of the river which was good for absolutely nothing. Some of the new home-owners in the West End development now declared this swamp to be a menace to the health of the community, and Mr. Snipes was formally ordered by the City Council to drain it properly. He found the work would necessitate the expenditure of about $2,000. He could not dispose of the land at any price; the only thing for him to do was to put a mortgage on his home.

Of course Sallie had to be hold, as she must sign the notes and deed. Mr. Snipes felt that he would have difficulty in getting her to understand his motive for making the loan. But to his amazement, she took it calmly. She didn't even say: "I told you so!" And the next morning she came down to his office (he had an office of his own now) and signed the deed and notes without a word.

But that evening, as Mr. Snipes was drifting into a little nap before dinner, he heard the voice of Sam Willett, Sallie's older brother, downstairs in the living-room, and knew he was being discussed.

"Darn shame you must live in a mortgaged house, Sallie," continued Sam. "What about accepting the loan from me?"

"I think we can take care of our own affairs," replied Sallie, and her voice lacked the usual sweetly superior quality in which one Willett usually addressed another. "As a matter of fact," she added, "I bought in those mortgage notes myself. I had a nest-egg George didn't know about."

Mr. Snipes, unintentional eavesdropper that he was, was overwhelmed with conflicting emotions. He was elated that Sallie had stuck to him so loyally—the tone in which she had addressed her brother had proven her loyalty to him; but his elation was tinged with humiliation at the thought that after all she hadn't had any faith in him. She had only been humoring him, as one would humor a child!

A committee was waiting on Mr. Snipes in his office next morning. He faced them aggressively, his thin shoulders set in defiance. He knew he was going to be sold out immediately, else why should Jacob Banes, Stanley Winston and John Nottinghim, three of the largest stockholders and directors of the Camden State Bank, have taken the trouble to call on him at such an early hour?

"Mighty keen of you, George," observed Stanley Winston, narrowing his shrewd little animal eyes, "to buy that swamp next the river! But you got to remember, the bank has stood square behind you right along—and you don't want to be piggish now—crowd us out! We want to be in on the deal, George! But say," he added, lowering his voice confidentially, "how the dickens did you know the traction company would run the electric line just that way?"

All three gentlemen started when Mr. Snipes sprang to his feet, crying triumphantly: "I had a hunch—and now I'm sitting pretty, I guess. But I'll be glad to listen," he added with glowing eyes, "to all you fellers have to say."

He continued to glow, magnanimously, as all three directors began excitedly to talk of dollars—thousands of dollars! But he wasn't listening to what they said, though he nodded vaguely now and then. He was thinking of Sallie, his wife. For the first time in his life he felt she was his wife—Mrs. George Snipes. The Willetts had sunk into the background.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

BEETHOVEN'S "Symphony No. 6" will be played by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra as the latter half of the Lewisohn Stadium concert, which will be heard over KDKA tonight. This NBC feature goes on the air at 8:30 o'clock. The opening selection of the concert will be the overture to Verdi's "Sicilian Vespers."

The evolution from rhythm from its earliest, most primitive forms to modern syncopated jazz, will be traced during the Eveready hour to be heard over WCAE and other NBC stations at 9 o'clock. The Eveready Salon orchestra, under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret, will conduct an excursion into remote historical periods. This will begin with ancient war music, monotonous with the throb of tom toms and eerie with that peculiar tonality which characterized music before the discovery of modern scales. The beginning of esthetic music will be shown in a Hindu snake dance, which will lead into the half-oriental Russian folk tunes and then to the South American waltz, "Pasillo."

French music will feature the Musical Miniatures presentation over WCAS at 8 o'clock. Jean Theslof, baritone, will sing. The National Concert orchestra will also be heard.

The sacred song concert broadcast from KDKA at 10:20 o'clock will be presented by Helen Marie Greenwood, soprano of the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg, and Frederick G. Rodgers, baritone soloist of the Watson Presbyterian Church of North Side. Stephen Leyshon, KDKA announcer, will give two readings.

STAGE AND SCREEN

SONG NUMBERS IN COMEDY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

There's a surplus of husbands and feminine "inspirations" in the Nixon this week. It all occurs in that Avery Hopwood translation, "Little Miss Bluebeard," which is quite a merry drama. Mixed in with the comedy situations are a quality of coffee, a screen of cigaret smoke and, what proves a novelty in local stock production, four or so vocal numbers by the leading woman. Also there is quite a bit of stage liquor consumed. But you shouldn't begrudge themen their little drink—or drinks—for they certainly need something to carry them through the rather baffling situations.

The action opens in the London studio of Larry Charters, a song composer. Larry just finishes the boast he will never marry when he learns he's a husband—in name, if not in fact. You see his friend, Bob Talmadge, who has a wife, somewhere, and a baby, married a French cutie, Colette, while masquerading as Larry. Confronted with the honeymoon, Bob weakens and confesses all. Then he comes and tells Larry about it. Imagine the cheerful news of learning one is husband of a woman yet to be met! Naturally, Larry is peeved. But when he learns Colette is pretty, he consents to see her. And when he sees her, well, he falls in love with her, that's all.

Act No. 2 brings morning—and several of Larry's angry lady friends, his "inspirations," who have learned of his supposed marriage. Sweet tempered women, all! One threatens to throw herself out of his window; another to smash everything in his apartment, including him. The plot continues to unravel more situations and more laughs. Finally, in the third act, laid in a villa at Deauville, the ending that satisfies is at hand.

For the most part the cast carries its parts well. Harry Bannister plays Larry and Marguerite Merrill has the Colette part. Other players include Sara Floyd, Norman Porter, Fred Sullivan, Edgar Henning, John Hayden, Helena Gregg, Kathryn Card and Gordon Kerr. Incidentally, the leading woman's vocal efforts won applause at last night's premiere.

The play, was seen as a road production in the same theater several seasons ago. Irene Bordoni was the star.

CYCLING MUSICIANS IN SHERIDAN SQUARE

The Victoria Troupe, a sextet of cyclists opened a three-day engagement yesterday in the Sheridan Square. Each one of them played jazz and other selections while cycling in all sorts of manner. The photoplay was "The News Parade," featuring Sally Phipps and Nick Stuart in a story of a newsreel cameraman. Emmy Barbier and Charles J. Simms & Co., offered a travesty, with music, on life in the Hollywood movie studios. Harry Lester Mason gave a monologue and sang. Kay Kody & Martha Wilson appeared in a musical act. The Aerial Levails performed on the trapeze. A new organlogue and short screen subjects are on the bill.

HALF WIVES by Winifred Van Duzer

Marie Tells Ione "Don't Wait for Your Ship to Come In, But Go and Meet It"

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar's music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, and plans to marry him on a 50-50 basis. She is always holding up as a model Ione's sister, Jencpher, who is married, has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimar's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione feels that her sister's little boy is suffering through Jencpher's trying to be a wife and a wage earner at the same time. Alan Blake, an accompanist for the Weimar concern, shows his admiration for her and Benz takes her motoring and tells her he is crazy about her, but Ione realizes that she is in love with Blake. Marie is married and during her honeymoon her place at the office is taken by Fluff Hartwick, a confirmed flirt. Her salary is raised and Weimar plans to give her a big chance. She asks Blake if they can't be married at once but he scorns the idea of living on a woman's money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HER afternoon went as swiftly; at last she sent a boy with a note: "You'd not fail to see me tonight? Extra special, dear Lanny, it being Tuesday and therefore a grand day for a meeting."

And he wrote back, "It's never I who fail. I'll be there," with the "I" underlined.

Not quite so jaunty, looking down at her, eyes all gray and sober. "Oh, my dear!" burst from her. He saw her lashes gleam with tears.

"Well—it's all right, Io. You thought I minded? I want you to be happy, to have everything. It's only that I can't give you the world and a star. I'll be fair."

They went to the Italian restaurant; she talked with little rushes the gayety, hurrying to fill up the silences that kept falling between them. The newspapers were printing the story of a movie star who had divorced the young fellow she married when both were unknown. She soon would mate with a man of resplendent position and fortune.

Headliness stared at them from down the room; Alan read aloud and his face settled grimly.

"All alike, the blessed frills—all want the good things of life. Easily manage to bestow their affections on someone who can give them. Love is a movable feast; place it where there's going to be the most abundance."

She said, "Oh!" on an aching breath.

"You'll break my heart, Alan . . . You don't mean that—indeed—" Sobs shivered through her; he saw her face droop, wistful, as at a flower.

"Oh—well, you know I don't. Forget it, Io. I'm blue; discouraged waiting. I love you so."

She looked up, eyes like violets. "You do, Lanny? You're sure? Because there's no one else for me; nothing I want but what we can share. I won't go out with Eddie Benz again. I won't see him. I want only you."

But he wouldn't have it that way. "I'm unreasonable. Love is selfish, maybe? This damnable waiting—I'll see Weimar tomorrow. Tell him I've got to know.

"You'd marry me now, sweetheart? Give up your golden opportunity? No regret?"

"No regret!" A wild joy swept her, left her trembling with relief. "It may be soon, Lanny? Oh!"

She began to refuse Benz' invitations. Gallant Paradise feathers hung in the closet, wilted a little with waiting; the slippers and the flashing buckles were wrapped away in tissue.

Winter nights grew long and rather lonely. For now Alan was doing extra work and she would see no one else.

She filled them in playing with Timmy and sometimes making poignant little sketches in the Wish Book.

CHAPTER XX.

MARIE had been back for some time. But now, since Ione's desk was moved to a corner of Benz' private office their association was interrupted somewhat.

Once they started out for lunch together in the old, jolly way. It was one of the few times Ione's new duties permitted her to leave at Marie's hour and she was overjoyed to be with her friend.

"Let's celebrate, sweet Marie. Let's go to the Van Rex and have chicken salad."

Marie dropped her eyes. "You see, Io, I've got to count the nickels now. Saving up for a console—there's a bare place in the Perfect Home. Don't think I mind! Pal has cut down too; he's smoking a pipe now, the lamb!"

"Ol' married woman! Come on, I'll treat." Ione saw the instant resentment on the pert face. "For heaven's sake, you're not going to act that way? Why, I'll come for dinner some night; you can pay back if you feel like it."

It gave her a little shocked feeling that Marie's romance had fallen from the lofty idealism of her marriage morning to the hard fact of penny pinching. But she quickly saw that Marie did not regard it so.

"You've no idea how much fun it is, Io. Working together and sharing everything, even the scrimpings. Why, we're closer than ever we'd been if things had been easy. Sometimes I think that's what raises marriage from just companionship to a high and holy union of souls. Sacrificing selfish interests for each other and for the home."

Her eyes shone with a tender look. She had changed. Before she was a girl asking happiness of life; now she was a woman reaching her hands for fulfillment.

Ione pressed her arm and smiled mistily. "I can see you're happy, dear. It's all you hoped, then?"

"More—so much more."

Still she was excited, going into the Van Rex, sitting down in the atmosphere of luxury. "Of course I love this, Io. But it doesn't count, really. Well—haven't you something to whisper? Which is it going to be, Benz the gorgeous, or Alan the lovable?"

"Ol' matchmaker! Don't you know I'm destined for a great career, I am, and can't waste my valuable time on such?" But her face was scarlet and Marie caught a wistfulness in her voice.

She said, softly, "I know, Io; I shouldn't have asked that. You're waiting for his ship to come in? Don't. Go out and meet it. With your good job, working together—ah, don't let the shine wear off. Don't wait. Indeed you don't know the happiness of building in spite of difficulties."

Ione kept crumbling her roll, face down, near to tears. Marie rushed on: "There's a cottage next to us on Highmont road that's vacant now. Darling thing, buff with green shutters and a garden. You could rent it for next to nothing! We'd come in on the train mornings, the four of us—have dinner out under the lilacs sometimes. Wouldn't you like it?"

"Yes—well, Lanny isn't very modern. We've talked. He'd think it terrible for his wife to work."

"Oh!" Marie tossed her head. "You'd expect him to be bigger than that—afraid of his pride—"

That caught in Ione's mind, rankled against her will. Lanny loved her but his pride shackled him. He would feel it a reflection on himself if his wife were to earn outside her home. Rather outrageous that seemed; a flaw in the perfection she saw as Alan Blake.

It came back to haunt her after she thought it was forgotten.

Fluff Hartwick was perched on a corner of a desk when they returned, squirming like a kitten at Eddie Benz. He grinned above her metallic curls and mimicked a call for help. Fluff sent them a look of fury.

They laughed and went on. Marie pulling Ione's arm. "Can you beat her? Funny part is that line of hers seems to get her by. Know Benz has given her your old job?"

"She's nothing in our young lives, Marie."

"Better be sure of that. Saw her making her baby eyes at Alan this morning. Didn't notice him running away very fast, either."

"Ha, if he fancies the likes of her he's free. Door is always open if beloved Alan wants to take a walk."

She laughed with a fine disregard, carried it off jauntily before Marie. But her memory of the afternoon in the studios came scaring into her thoughts. Fluff draped on the piano, eyes so big and round, listening with a rapt air while Lanny played a thing that rippled under his fingers.

Lanny smiling up at her as if she were not a silly little thing.

THE MAGNET

Good Health And a Sunny Disposition Ever Attract

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

© 1928 by Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved

LIKE butterflies around a rose they flock around her. She's a human magnet and draws everyone to her through the sheer force of a charming personality. But is that all? Of course not. She has the sunniest disposition imaginable, ever ready to laugh and enjoy life at every step, whether she's dancing, swimming, driving, riding, or any other of the hundred and one activities with which the modern girl busies herself. To a glowing good health she adds the sparkle of her sunny smile and it's no wonder that her friends have nicknamed her "The Magnet."

Not to all of us are given every gift of the gods. Some seem to be more blessed than others. But we each have it within our power to cultivate charm. And the best way to begin is to see that our dispositions are ever cheery and sunny. Don't force it, though, for like a lovely forced flower in a hot house, it will soon fade and then what's left? Would you learn a secret? Then hark! From good health spring good thoughts. Good thoughts bring happy smiles. Happy smiles bring a sunny disposition. And a happy disposition calls Love. So if that's what you seek—well, just follow the recipe and you'll make the acquaintance of I'll Dan Cupid before you can say "boo!"

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WE ALL LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES.

WE all live in glass houses, these frank, bright, open-faced days.

Nothing is concealed—from our emotions to our bridge work! There isn't a good whole family skeleton to be found in an entire community of houses. And if there were we should probably dangle it as a radiator cap on the front of our automobiles.

A man displays his Adam's apple as openly and defiantly above his low soft collar as a girl displays her knees beneath her high-water skirts.

HELEN ROWLAND

We discuss our soul secrets, our sentiments, our reactions, our complexes and even our HUSBANDS and our domestic fights with everybody.

* * *

We naively carry our schoolgirl complexions around with us in little gold cases and perform the most intimate details of our toilettes—powder our noses, touch up our lips and renovate our blushes—in the street, the theater or the church—wherever we happen to be.

* * *

We are SO frank and open that we even discuss our sins and brag of our little escapades. We just LOVE to tell each other about our face-lifts, our favorite beauty creams and how we make our figures "what they ain't," by diet and reducing exercises.

* * *

As for SEX, it is no longer a mystery or a personal affair, but our favorite topic of dinner-table conversation, and light afternoon-tea chatter.

We not only live in GLASS HOUSES, but we never pull down the shades! We don't even try to cover up our impulses or to hide our tempers under a camouflage of good manners!

* * *

All this unblushing candor has undoubtedly made life lots simpler and more comfortable, but it has robbed it of most of its picturesqueness.

Diplomacy, coquetry and the beautiful art of flirtation are as archaic today as Queen Anne furniture and hoopskirts. There are no hors d'oeuvres to the love-feast any more. We just plunge right in! Love-making is no longer a fencing match, but a wrestling match!

A man no longer gets a kick out of standing on a windy corner watching the girls go by. There's nothing MORE to see! He can no longer sigh that he is "afraid of women." They have no "ulterior designs." They "tell ALL," and do their husband-hunting with guns, not with snares.

* * *

But by that same token, girls no longer suffer from acute self-consciousness and false modesty. They don't "wonder what's slipping" every time a man stares at them. They can sit comfortably, walk without mincing and talk without choosing their words. It's a new heaven and a new earth! And whether we like it or not, life is lots EASIER, if less inspiring, thrilling and beautiful.

Horoscope

Wednesday, August 15

A LIVELY and important day is the forecast made from the very active stellar operations. There is promise of an unexpected change or journey, with developments unexpected and of far reaching results. The employment may be advantageously affected and new contracts and agreements call for close scrutiny, especially as to the signing of documents.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of important developments with probable change of environment and possibly of employment or business connections.

A child born on this day may be versatile and talented despite certain restless and indecisive tendencies. It may succeed best in employment.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Tells Noel About Eleanor Lincoln

THERE was such tremulous eagerness in Noel Veritzen's query as to my opinion of Mary's feeling for him, that I longed mightily to give him an affirmative answer. But I had no real basis for such a reply even if I had felt free to comment upon the young girl's emotional reaction toward him.

"I wish I could tell you, positively Noel, that Mary does care for you," I said. "But that is something I do not know, and I would not venture a guess——"

"Please!" Noel said in an agony of embarrassed protest. "I ought not to have asked that question. I must have taken leave of my senses."

"Young men in love generally do," I said. "But your question was perfectly pardonable, and you have solved a problem for me by your comprehension of my query. Therefore I want you to believe me when I tell you this, that Mary always has liked you exceedingly, and has enjoyed your companionship. She never would treat you in this atrocious manner were she not acting under coercion of some kind. I believe all these things, and I am going to make it my business to prove them."

"I don't see how it's going to help me, even if they are true," Noel said gloomily. "But I am grateful for your belief that Mary did not mean those things she said to me."

"Hold fast to that," I said, "and—may I give you a piece of impertinent advice?"

"You may say anything to me that you choose—you know that—" he said fervently.

"Then," I whispered, for we were rounding the dune nearest the campfire, "keep on playing around with Miss Lincoln. I have a good reason for asking it."

His equally low-toned reply was quick, impetuous, and startling in its implication.

"I can't do anything else," he said, "while I'm with——"

He broke off sharply, and I wondered whether it was because he regretted his impetuous answer or because we had approached so near the campfire that he feared someone noticing his whispered confidence.

"Welcome to the council fire!" Lillian sang out as we came up to the group around the fire. "We were just about to send out a searching party for you. The last we saw, you were skimming along the sand after the youngsters. Then Marion and Junior came back, boasting they'd won the race and a little bit later Mary came trailing in. But none of them had seen you, Noel. I think it my duty to warn you that the lady's husband possesses a very jealous disposition. It's lucky you brought her back when you did or your soulful music might have been interrupted by a challenge to mortal combat."

But I realized in the laugh which followed her nonsense that it was a distinct message she had sent me under the guise of foolery. She had insured my giving the same account of my disappearance which Mary and Marion had furnished, thus keeping anyone from suspecting that Mary and Noel had had any opportunity for an interview while we had been absent from the campfire.

To Clean Mirrors.

Methylated spirit is good for cleaning glass, because it evaporates so rapidly and leaves a brilliant sheen. It is especially good for mirrors, as it reduces the chance of excess moisture working behind the glass and spotting it. It is also very good for hand mirrors—that is, if they have a silver back. It is not safe to use it on any of the beautiful ivory imitations, as it is liable to leave a stain. The best way of cleaning a hand mirror of this type is to use chamois and clean warm water. Although methylated spirit is most effective when used concentrated, it need not necessarily be used that way. A small amount can be added to the wash water in the same way as ammonia.

Some Ways to Stop Falling of the Hair

THERE are many causes for falling hair. All of them go back to one chief factor—deficient blood circulation in the scalp.

DR. COPELAND

Some of us have large blood vessels and strongly acting hearts. The blood is sent in a forceful stream to every part of the body including the tips of the fingers and toes and the crown of the head. With an abundant supply of rich, invigorating, life-giving blood, the hair thrives and grows apace.

This is not the case if Nature has been stingy in making the blood vessels. Nor is it to be expected that a weak and feebly beating heart will send quantities of blood to the roots of the hair.

Ill health, late hours, loss of sleep and lack of exercise will weaken the action of the heart. Falling hair is merely a symptom of lowered vitality. Restore the tone and vigor of the body and the hair will stop falling out.

There is another factor and it is concerning that which I wish to enlarge upon today. Without the proper foods the hair cannot be well nourished.

When hair is burned, you recall what a pungent and disagreeable odor fills the atmosphere. That is due to burning sulphur, a generous ingredient in the structure of the hair.

When we think of foods too many of us recall merely the proteins, fats and carbohydrates. We forget about the essential minerals. That is one of the pathetic defects of our education. The habits of civilization deprive us of many important things. One of them is the increasing lack of mineral elements in the diet. Mineral starvation is all too common in America.

Sulphur is a mineral we rarely hear about, but for the maintenance and repair of certain tissues, particularly the hair, an abundance must be had. Without it the body must suffer and, so far as the hair is concerned, there cannot be health and adequate renewal.

There are certain foods particularly rich in sulphur. They are lean beef, eggs, milk, wholewheat bread and crackers, oatmeal, beans, peas and potatoes.

It must be remembered that the outer covering of the cereals and vegetables contain the chief mineral supply. They must be cooked in such a way as to retain the sulphur. If they are boiled, the fluid must be permitted to escape in steam and not be poured off, carrying away the dissolved minerals.

Try to add to your sulphur intake and give your hair a chance. Improve your general health and permit the heart to resume its activity. Locally, stimulating applications to the scalp will give temporary increase in the blood supply and thus help the growth and strength of the hair. To this end the various electrical and light treatments are useful.

Answers to Health Queries

F. D. G. Q.—What do you advise for acne?

A.—Correct the diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat only simple food. Almost always constipation or at least sluggish bowel movements are present. This should be corrected. Exercise is essential.

M. N. Q.—Can bow legs be cured by an operation?

A.—Consult an orthopedic surgeon for his advice, after a personal examination.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Eddie Moore's Drop to Minors Show Disposition May Set Ability at Naught—Pirates Closing in on Reds and Cubs for First Division Berth—Cochran Out of Professional Billiards?

THE shunting of Eddie Moore to the minors by the Boston National League club may be accepted as another bit of evidence that a diamond performer must have more than mere playing ability to remain in the big show.

Eddie Moore

True, the former Pirate, who was transferred to the Braves by the waiver route on July 20, 1926, while Bill McKechnie was steering the Bucs, succeeded in sticking in the fast set for almost five seasons, but when it is considered that he is not yet 27 years old it will be seen that his stay was much shorter than that of the average baller of equal playing class.

PLAYERS are no longer rated old at such an age or even 30, as in the bygone, so it would appear that under the law of average in modern baseball Eddie should have lasted eight or more additional campaigns.

There are two sides to a ball player, however. One is his playing ability and the other is his disposition. The latter probably is the cause of Moore's slipping out of the fast set at an age when he should still have quite a stretch of big league employment ahead of him.

AS a player Eddie measured up to major league requirements all around. He could hit, he could field, he could play either on the first line of defense or in the outer gardens, he was fast as a streak, and full of fight, nerve and gameness.

One day in 1925 Manager McKechnie said of him: "There is a ball player who will take any risk to help his club win, the kind that will step up to the plate and let the ball hit him in the face if necessary in order to get on the bases when his team is in urgent need of a run."

HOWEVER, in the following season, McKechnie decided it was advisable to let him go, the reason being that Moore proved too hard to handle and cracked some of the Pittsburgh club's rules. The same lack of tractability probably caused his undoing as a member of the Boston club. He has a will of his own and asserts it at times by doing things during a game contrary to the orders of the manager. In the interest of discipline, Dave Bancroft deemed it necessary on at least one occasion to fine him for talking back after Eddie had been rebuked for disregarding a signal and making "the wrong play." In all probability Rogers Hornsby has had similar trouble with him, and the result is that Moore goes to the minors far ahead of the average time. Incidentally this second release in the majors, with the fact that every other club in the two big leagues waived on him, indicates that the Pittsburgh club knew what it was doing when it dropped him and that there was no ground for the criticism of the Pirate management then and afterward.

PIRATE followers felt the sting of Friday's and Saturday's tough defeats more than ever yesterday, when the Bushmen opened the final home series against th East with a 6-to-1 victory over Brooklyn.

Glenn Wright

Had those two games been won, instead of being lost despite the fact that the enemy scored only three runs all told in a total of 21 innings, the Corsairs would now have 11 straight wins to their credit and some of the pennant aspirants ahead of them might be showing considerable uneasiness.

EVEN at that, the climbing Pirates are still apt to throw a scare into somebody soon. They are only three games behind the Reds and a berth in the first division, and only three and one-half behind the Cubs and third place.

Besides, practically the entire difference between the Corsairs and the two rivals named exists in the "lost" column, giving the Bucs a better chance to "catch up" as they have a greater number of games to play than either the Cubs or Reds.

AND the Freebooters are in good shape to make such a drive, even without the services of Glenn Wright, as Manager Bush has in Grimes, Kremer, Fussell and Hill four pitchers who are hurling as well as any quartet in the league, and Bartell is leaving nothing to be desird as a substitute for Wright at shortstop. Wright's injured foot is mending, but he will not be able to play until Saturday or Monday, if then.

KREMER'S great pitching was one of the most pleasing features of yesterday's game, not only because it brought another victory but because it indicated that his return to form this time is permanent and that the big ace may be depended upon to pitch his normal brand of ball throughout the remainder of the race.

Remy has won six of his last seven games and on three of the seven occasions the Robins were his victims. He started the streak with wins over the Phillies and Robins, next lost to the Dodgers, and then beat Brooklyn and Boston once each and Brooklyn twice more in the order named.

FRED FUSSELL, who has been pitching as brilliantly as any flinger in the Heydler loop recently, though losing several of his games through tough breaks, probably will have another hard fight on his hands tomorrow, as he and Dazzy Vance are Wednesday's slab selections.

Vance is hard to beat in his late-season form and a hard-fought mound duel is in prospect if Fussell is on the right edge.

THOUGH Vance's percentage of games won this year is not as high as in some previous seasons, he is likely to keep up one part of his record. That is, leading the National League in strikeouts.

Vance has been the fanning king every year since he joined the Robins in 1922, and as he has 139 whiffs to his credit up to date in the present campaign there

GOLF FAVORITES TRIUMPH

JOSEPHSON, GOULD SHOW FORM

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

DISPLAYING brilliant golf in the first round of the eliminations in the women's city championship played this morning over the Schenley Park course, Miss Jessie Gould and Mrs. R. G. Josephson loomed as real threats to Miss E. Lucille Bejach's bid for the 1928 championship.

Miss Bejach, the medalist, survived the first round of match play, winning from Mrs. Stevenson by default. Miss Gould, who defeated Miss McKinley, 5 and 4, finished out her 18 holes, turning in a card of 86.

After taking a 51 on her outward journey, Mrs. Josephson turned in a brilliant 39 on her homecoming nine for an even 90.

The winners in this morning's round were Miss Bejach, Mrs. Josephson, Miss Kelleher, Mrs. Blair, Mrs. B. Evans, Mrs. Brown, Miss Gould and Mrs. Bedell.

Miss Bejach shot a 48-40—88 to win the medalist honors yesterday. Her score was a disappointment to herself, though it was looked upon with envy by the remainder of the field of some 30 women stars who began play in the title tourney.

Tilden Ignored In Selecting East's Team

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The name of William T. Tilden was not included among the members of an Eastern tennis team, the personnel of which has been announced by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association for the annual East vs. West matches Friday and Saturday at Forest Hills, N. Y.

A chance that another player, possibly Tilden, will be added to the team was indicated, however, by the wording of the announcement which said "the Eastern team will include" Richard N. Williams, captain; Francnis T. Hunter, Dr. George King, Watson Washburn, John Van Tyn, Gregory Mangin, Fritz Mercur and Teizo Toba.

ELIGIBLE FOR PITT GRID TEAM

After a year's absence during which time he made up deficiencies in his studies, Rooney will be a strong candidate for a backfield berth on the University of Pittsburgh eleven this fall. An excellent punter and a heady field general, Rooney is expected to fill one of the vacancies in the Panther backfield. Rooney will leave with the Pitt squad for Camp Hamilton early next month.

STARS FOR NORTH SIDE CIVICS

Jimmy Rooney, forced to seek a new berth when the Bellevue club withdrew from the Allegheny County League, cast his allegiance with the North Side Civics in the City League and has been playing a brilliant game at the hot corner. Rooney is a versatile athlete and can play virtually any position on the team.

TOM HEENEY

GENE TUNNEY'S OWN STORY OF HIS FAREWELL RING APPEARANCE AGAINST TOM HEENEY.

by Gene Tunney

RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION.

(COPYRIGHT, 1928, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.)

CHAPTER X.

IT IS only fair in nearing a conclusion that I should call attention to the magnificent job Eddie Forbes did in refereeing Tom Heeney's courageous effort to win the heavyweight title.

In many ways, Forbes was a surprise choice as third man in the ring. As far as I can remember, he never before officiated in a match in which I took part. Under the New York Athletic Commission method of naming officials a few minutes before a bout is to take place, Forbes' choice was as much a surprise to me as it was to others. Another prominent referee had been slated, generally, for the job.

From the moment we were called from our corners for instructions, Forbes, a Brooklyn newspaperman and veteran of the ring, impressed me with his quiet capability. Once the bout was under way his ability became so pronounced that I hardly think anyone in the park could help noticing his proficiency.

The perfect referee, and I consider Forbes was that on the Thursday night I fought Heeney, never interferes with the boxers. He is always on the move, keeps out of the line of vision of the spectators and never intrudes himself into the fighting itself.

He must know the rules and have the courage to see that they are obeyed every moment of the three minutes alloted to boxing each round. He must impress the ring men with his ability so that they quickly place full confidence in his judgment and honesty. A referee can do irreparable damage to the chances of either man if he is so minded.

Forbes, to my mind, did none of the things that exasperate a man in the ring. There have been occasions when a referee has not been above helping either contestant. It is very easy, if one boxer is possessed of a powerful right hand, to break the pair constantly from that side, at the same time making certion to "cover" and hold the dangerous right hand as the boxers are pushed back from a clinch. The same thing can be done from the left side if that is the most powerful of the weapons to be silenced.

ONLY TWO INFRACTIONS

Many times you see referees tugging and hauling at two men in a clinch. That is in variance with the rules of the ring unless the boxers themselves refuse absolutely to break at the command of the referee. The constant hauling at the

AND Heinie Mueller is coming back to the majors, to play with his former pal and manager, Rogers Hornsby. The St. Louis Dutchman has ever been a big-league batter and in a general way a good performer, but after a year on the New York brigade he found himself shunted to the minors.

Heinie is nothing if not colorful, and it is only recently that he has loost his German accent; he still has a trace perhaps. If you have not heard Heinie's reply to a newspaperman on the Hornsby trade maybe you will enjoy it.

ABOUT the same time the famed Rajah was swapped to the Braves, Heinie was sent to Toledo. A big rumpus was raised over the Hornsby transfer, New York newspapers getting expressions from many people relative to the swap. Eventually a scribe cornered Heinie, who was anything but pleased over the turn of his personal fortunes.

"What do you think of the Giants sending Hornsby to Boston, Mr. Mueller?" quizzed the reporter.

"I should vorry about Horns-

Y.) Tills in opposition to Mr. Garfield Johnson of the Pittsburgh Johnsons in the main bout. When the Till-Johnson imbroglio was over and done, the judges couldn't agree on the verdict, and Referee Joe Keally called the fracas a draw. I fear Mr. Keally booted one, though you might have given Garfield a close try.

Loud and raucous hoots greeted the announcement of the draw verdict. Some of the less pacific followers of the sport even went so far as to shout "robber" in loud voices. Other pet expressions heard

WHAT may develop into the most significant phase of the exciting National League race starts in earnest this afternoon in the four Western cities of the circuit. It is logical to feel that before the present invasion of the West by the four Eastern teams is finished the ultimate winner will be much easier to select than at the present time.

The warfare in the West today puts the Giants on a rather torried battlefield. The Men of McGraw must meet the Cubs in Chicago, and to date the New Yorkers have won only one of eight fights staged at Wrigley Field. The Cardinals on the other hand have the comparatively softer Boston Braves with which to contend at the outset of the seige. The Reds will take on the lowly Quakers and perchance may get back closer to the leaders in the next 10 days.

As the big movement gets under way the Redbirds are fighting desperately to protect their lead of two and one-half games. They have been shorn of much of their advantage in the past two weeks, but it can hardly be said that the Cards have cracked. Their stubborn resistance in the classic at Forbes Field on Friday was not the act of a club that is weakening.

BUCS PLAY ROBINS

Meantime, the rejuvenated Pirates are making as much hay as possible as they seek a better position in the standings. The stride of the Buccos in the past months has furnished the sport with a real high spot. It is a bit unfortunate that the Oaklanders lost the masterpieces of Friday and Saturday else they would now be in such a position as to terrorize the leaders.

The second fight of the series with the Dodgers is on the local program for this afternoon. Carmen Hill has the pitching assignment for the home club with Doug McWeeny all set for the enemy. Dick Bartell will continue at short in place of the injured Wright.

Remy Kremer held the Robins [illegible] six blows as he turned them back yesterday. Frenchy was in the same delightful form that marked his triumph over the same team in the Flatbush a few days ago. And, as on that ocasion, Frenchy's bat played a big part in the success. Kremer drove in two tallies yest-

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The heavyweight championship elimination bouts, which Tex Rickard will stage to select Gene Tunney's successor, will be divided between New York and Boston. Sheldon H. Fairbanks, manager of the Boston Madison Square Garden, has received assurance of this fact from Rickard.

SANDLOT BASEBALL by TOM BIRKS

MANAGER POP GEER of the Stowe Civics is far away from the hustle and bustle that goes with the second half of the City League championship. The Stowe mentor left on Saturday evening for Richmond, O., where sandlot baseball will be forgotten for the time being.

While Pop is vacationing the club will be in charge of Gardner and a full week's schedule is on tap. This evening Pleasant Valley, headed by Manager Johnny Dunsky, will be the attraction at Stowe Field. Tomorrow evening the Civics will pay a return visit to Woodlawn to meet Joe Brehaney's club.

On Thursday a local derby will be scheduled when W. O. W., headed by Manager Jedinak, drop over from Harlan Field. On Friday a benefit game is scheduled for Rodgers, the second baseman, who was hurt a couple of weeks ago.

THIS kid Matoney, shortstop and pitcher, seems to be the find of the season on the local sandlots. Matoney had been playing with the Hermitage Pirates, a junior championship outfit, and recently was signed by Manager Bill McGrady of the St. Johns team of the City League. Matoney came as a shortstop and filled up a real gap, his playing was spectacular and the fans were delighted.

LAST Sunday the fans saw Joe in in a new role. In the game with Greensburg Matoney started at short, but Dick Guy's sluggers made short work of Rosemyer and Norris and in two innings scored seven runs. Then McGrady thought of Matoney who had pitched with Hermitage. Joe went in, and what a fine time that main line outfit had getting baschits.

WHILE Matoney worked along mowing down the opposition his mates got to Vavra and a couple of other pitchers and knocked them all out of the box. And with Matoney's stellar performance St. Johns batted out a one-sided victory.

THIS fellow Vavra seems to be one of the queerest fellows in the ranks of sandlot pitchers. The writer has never yet seen Vavra finish a game. His wildness, hitting batsmen, and giving free passes, always causes his downfall and Sunday's game was nothing different. The team gave him a seven-run lead, but he could not hold it.

ST. JOHNS gave the best exhibition of the season. The team has accumulated some confidence, mainly through Happy Martin, who incidentally made one of the greatest catches seen at Sullivan Field this season. Next Sunday Hughy Turner will bring Canonsburg to Sullivan Field, and with Bill Amos and Woofty Wild in the lineup the Gunners should bring the greatest crowd of the season.

Four Coast Aces Seeded

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Helen Wills, of Berkley, Cal., American women's singles champion, and Mrs. Molla Mallory, of New York, former titleholder, who between them have dominated women's national tennis championships for the past 13 years or more, head the list of seeded players for this year's title tourney opening at Forest Hills, Me., next Monday.

The second former champion in the seeded list of eight, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, of Santa Monica, Cal., was placed in the final position. Mrs. Bundy, one of the most famous figures in the game and the real veteran of the play. She last won the title in 1904. Mrs. Mallory has not won the championship since 1915.

Just half of the seeded players are California entrants. In addition to Miss Wills, who ranks No. 1, and Mrs. Bundy, Helen Jacobs, of Santa Barbara, took the No. 3 position and Edith Cross, of San Francisco, No. 4. The East gained three places in Mrs. Mallory, No. 2; Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, of Springfield, Mass., No. 5, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., No. 6. Miss Penelop Anderson, of Richmond, Va., was seeded No. 7.

The 60 entries gave no promise of international flavor. There were no foreign entries. Last year Miss Betty Nuthall, English star, came through the tournament to contest the final with Miss Wills.

In the first-round matches, both Miss Wills and her opponent in the second round, Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor, of New York, drew byes.

The remainder of the seeded players are paired as follows:

Mrs. Mallory vs. Miss Gene Burritt, of Toronto.

Mrs. Chapin vs. Mrs. Theodore Johnson, of New York.

Miss Cross vs. Mary Heaton, of New York.

Mrs. Bundy vs. Miss Charlotte Miller, of New York.

Miss Morrill vs. Miss Dorothy Blodgett.

Miss Jacobs, of Boston, vs. Miss Louise Fensterer, Englewood, N. J.

Miss Anderson vs. Mrs. Janette Hitchock, of Glenhead, N. Y.

TRAYNORS PLAN TO FETE PIE

The Traynor baseball team of Dormont and Mt. Lebanon will honor Pie Traynor and other Pirate stars at a fete at the Dormont field tomorrow evening. Sparky Adams, Dick Bartell and Lloyd Waner will share honor guest honors with Pie.

A game between the Traynors and the Hill Top Triangles will open festivities, and after the fray the Traynors will hold an informal reception for the Bucco captain and his mates at the home of the coach, R. B. Perry, of Annapolis avenue.

The Traynors are in the fourth year as an organized team. They have proved extremely popular and a record crowd is expected to help them make tomorrow evening's event a big success.

YANK OLYMPIC TEAM SAILS

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The steamship President Roosevelt, loaded with members of the American Olympic team, sailed at noon today. She will stop at Cherbourg to pick up members of the team who have been competing in various athletic events on the Continent.

Most of the athletic apparatus on the ship's decks has been dismantled, but the running track and some of the other equipment remains in order that training can be carried on for American sectional meets.

GENE'S STORY

arms of the contestants tires them, uses up precious stamina and results in irritable outbursts that have no place in the ring.

Only twice in the bout was Forbes called upon to warn either man. In the very first round, Heeney hit on a break just once, but, before the referee could warn him, Tom had apologized. Once I was guilty of dropping a left hook a fraction low, but again the apology was offered before Forbes could say a word.

It seems to me, as I take leave of the ring forever, that this is one point where the honesty and integrity of the boxing game can be demonstrated beyond the question of doubt. Referees, just as boxers or tacticians in any sport or business, can make mistakes. Whenever these mistakes are of judgment, publicity should be given the decision that was correct under the circumstances, referees should be warned to follow that precedent in the future and suggestions made to prevent possible recurrence of trying situations.

SHOULD TRUST OFFICIALS

At times in the past, altogether too much attention has been given to the choice of a referee for an important match. Allowing the impression to sink into the public mind that one man is more trustworthy than another vested with the same power is bad for boxing. There should be no question of the integrity of any man who bears the license of a referee. If there is, then that license should be taken from him immediately.

(To be Concluded Tomorrow.)

The VARSITY COLUMN by Jess M. Carver

ON PAPER, the Tri-State Conference race for the coming campaign on the gridiron looks to be a two-team race between Westminster and Geneva. The United Presbyterians have a veteran squad, while Geneva is particularly blessed with some highly finished individual stars. It is high time that Westminster won a Conference championship.

Geneva faces a tough task in starting a campaign with a new coach and with several members of the crack 1926 and 1927 championship elevens out of school. Bo McMillin has passed along and Mac Plenniken in charge. Mac as Bo's great fullback who finished up at Beaver Falls last spring.

BABE CULLEN, captain-elect of of the Genevians, was barred from further college play because of the fact that he put in a year at McKendrie College in Illinois before entering Geneva. He played on the varsity team there, and as the school is rated as a college and grants degrees, the year counted against him. His loss to the line will be keenly felt.

Stan Berkman is a good preseason choice for all-Conference quarterback. Berkman, one of the prides of Monaca, Pa., along with Franklin Hood, of Pitt, will captain Theil College's varsity football team, where he is a senior. (I do not know what Stan is studying, but its a cinch its not for the ministry.)

BERKMAN has been one of the outstanding gridders of the tri-state district for the past three years. He is an admirable field general to begin with. His passing is accurate and strong. He is a good punter. He carries the ball as well as any man in the section, either through the line or off the tackles or around the ends. This baby is a true triple-threat man. Watch him.

Duquesne U is still wondering whether or not John Weibel will be back as assistant football coach to Layden this fall.

Weibel is not yet certain as to whether he will be able to get into Pitt's medical school this fall. If he is, then he will stay with the Dukes, otherwise he'll return to Vanderbilt.

FIGHT

about the ringside were, reading from left to right:

"Porch climbers."

"Hoot, hoot!"

"What do you have to do to win a fight here?"

These cracks, of course, were directed at the judges and at the referee. They shook them off with no damage done.

Till, a clever, hard-hitting light-heavyweight, earned a good edge over Johnson, who never really found out what it was all about. Till won at least six of the 10 rounds, outboxing and outhitting the local boxer. He loaded up his right hand numerous times and hit Johnson so hard with it on two distinct occasions that he jarred the entire Johnson family tree.

Till had an advantage in the fifth, sixth, seventh, eight and final rounds, Johnson had a slight edge in the first and third. The other rounds could have been called draws or given to Till, not to Johnson.

Johnson came in at 171¾ pounds. Till upset the weight at 164 3-5.

In the semi-final bout, scheduled for six rounds, Dick Gibbons, of McKeesport, weighing 193½ pounds, opened a bad cut over Charley Brodd's eye in the second round and Brodd, a 182⅝ pounder, was forced to quit, thus giving Gibbons the decision via the technical knockout route.

Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, 147 pounds, won a slight edge over the rough, tough and ever moving Mule Brown, of Pittsburgh, erstwhile a member of Philadelphia's flatic colony in six frames. Brown looked like a champ one minute and a bum the next. Beatty's margin was not great.

Bobby Burns, 125 pounds, of Swissvale, punched Willie Cunningham, of Hazelwood, 125 pounds, to the canvas in the first round. Burns had it over Cunningham like a tent. Let that suffice.

In a hectic six-round opener, Young Angelo was awarded the decision over Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville after a hectic fray. Haggerty appeared to have the old fight in the bag until the final round, when Angelo's rally swayed the judges in his favor. Haggerty exhibited a neat left hand.

MRS. PRESSLER WINS

INDIAN HILLS, CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Harry Pressler, of Los Angeles, started out well in the defense of her western women's golf championship today by eliminating 17-year-old Virginia Ingram, of Chicago, 5 and 3, in the first round of match play.

Dorothy Page, of Madison, was 2 up at the turn on Jane Cannon, of Milwaukee, while Mrs. Curtis Sohl, of Columbus, scoring a par 41, despite a stymie, was 4 up on Mrs. R. T. Ballard, of Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. Pressler was all square with her youthful opponent at the end of the first 10 holes and then won the next five to win. Her out nine was ragged, but on the inward journey she was invincible, bagging four pars and a birdie. Miss Ingram was wild off the tee and her approaches short and crooked.

MARINO AND BELANTI SCORE KNOCKOUTS

Tony Marino, of the Duke O'Hara Club, McKeesport, and Paul Belanti, of the Twenty-seventh Ward Club, scored knockouts last night in the boxing show of the Twenty-seventh Ward Athletic Club. Marino stopped Pat Carr, Braddock Library A. C., in the first round and Belanti knocked out Jack Hoyle, Braddock Library, in the third stanza.

In other bouts George Bretch, Twenty-seventh Ward Club, received the decision over Freddie Mastream, Pittsburgh Lyceum; Joe Vanger, Braddock Library A. C., won from Frank Clark, Willow Club; Carl Montabano, Braddock Library A. C., defeated Eli Radikovich, Duke O'Hara Club.

The Twenty-seventh Ward Club is to stage another show August 27.

DEMPSEY MAY REFEREE RISKO-ROBERTI FIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Promoter Humbert J. Fugazy today attempted to induce Jack Dempsey to referee the 10-round heavyweight bout between Johnny Risko, Cleveland, and Roberto Roberti, Italy, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tomorrow night. Dempsey practically agreed, providing the New York State Athletic Commission would grant him a license. Dempsey refereed the Risko-Squires bout at Detroit recently.

Harry Wills, former "Black Menace," has applied for a second's license and, if it is granted, will be in Roberti's corner. Wills has been training with Roberti at Southampton, N. Y.

SHOCKER IMPROVES

DENVER, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Improvement was shown last night in the condition of Urban Shocker, former New York Yankee pitcher, ill in a local hospital with an attack of pneumonia and an athletic heart.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

is hardly any doubt that he will be the leader again in 1928 for the seventh successive time. Dazzy's grand total in strikeouts for the seven seasons is 1,277.

INDICATIONS are that one of the Big Three in American ballkline billiards—Jake Schaefer, Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran—is lost to the professional game. Cochran has entered a New York brokerage house and under the rules of the firm he will not be allowed to play billiards for money.

Welker Cochran

There is just one chance of Cochran's being seen in the big tournaments during the fall or winter. He is permitted to compete against professionals, provided he does not accept money for his work, and he believes that this will give him the right to play for a title provided he declines to accept the cash prize accompanying it if he wins.

LOCAL PRINTERS MEET DEFEAT

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Pittsburgh, the team that sprang a surprise by defeating the three-time champion Boston nine in the opening day's play of the Union Printers' International Baseball League here on Sunday was defeated by the St. Paul team yesterday 11 to 5. The Saints scored five runs in the first inning and were never in trouble.

Chicago, last year's champion team was defeated by Cleveland, 4 to 3. Washington made 22 hits in its game with Detroit, defeating the latter, 18 to 12.

The other games resulted as follows: St. Louis 10, Boston 2; Cincinnati 4, Indianapolis 3.

day with a pretty single to left-field.

Knoxville Bill Doak essayed to keep the Pirates in a losing stride, but after losing two tough games and going through 19 runless frames, the Pirates broke out on Bill who left the contest in the fourth round in favor of Big Jim Elliott who worked the remainder of the contest.

ADAMS STARTS SCORING

Sparky Adams started the game with a walk and Pie Traynor, after two were out in the round, slammed a single to center that scored Sparky. Adams scored again in the third on his three-bagger to center and L. Waner's single. Kremer's single of the fourth scored Brickell and Bartell and the Pirates were four in front.

Harvey Hendrick singled to center in the fifth with two out to score the Dodgers' lone tally. In the seventh Bartell whipped a fine hit to center with the bases loaded to give the home team two safety tallies.

CHILLYSAUCE

by!" exclaimed Heinie—"Vat do you think about them sending me to Toledo?"

IT IS to be hoped that Heinie has improved in his manner of stealing bases. He tried to take two bases on a foul ball at Forbes Field one afternoon years ago and when he finally came too he was on a train bound for Houston. Mueller on first darted for second as a compatriot hit a high foul back toward the stands. The Dutchman was going around second like a good fellow when the Pirate catcher gathered it in, and Mueller was getting close to third as the Pirate receiver threw to first for a double play. Asked for an explanation from the dazed Rickey, the downcast Heinie remarked:

"I was schust trying to steal a base, Mr. Rickey."

But Heinie should be back to stay this time. As stated before he has a lot of ability.

"WHERE have you been all this time?" is the way a lot of Pirate fans would like to address Fred Brickell, the Wichita schoolboy, who has added much to the punch of the Buccaneers. Brick showed yesterday he is just about as fast going down the first-base line as Sprout Waner. Sprout might hit the ball an instant before Fred, but you would not be able to see much daylight between the two.

It has been Brick's little misfortune to compete against the elusive aiants of Big Jim Elliot, a pitcher who seems to have enough natural stuff to win about 30 games a year in the big show. Jim's swift ball is a hard thing to judge, and when he lets fly with that hook to a lefthand swinger—well, the odds are in favor of the party of the first part.

ALARMS are being sounded in St. Louis as a result of the slump of the Cardinals. Sam Breadon, Branch Rickey and Bill McKechnie are pondering ways and means to get the chains on. Forewarned is forearmed, and the directors of the Cards cannot be blamed for turning over every stone.

The Cardinals on their recent appearance here did not act like a club that was cracking. The battles staged in the Oakland Orchard last week stand out as two of the best games of the year. The Redbirds dropped the first contest, but they had everybody on the anxious seat in the ninth when Taylor Douthitt bumped the ball in left and put himself on second with the tieing run. The excitement was sufficient to cause Donie Bush to rush Grimes to the rescue of Hill. And how the Cards did fight to win the battle of the following afternoon.

DE MARCO WINS

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 14.—Cuddy De Marco, of Pittsburgh, last night defeated Whitey Shortway in the 10-round headliner of a local show. De Marco held the edge from the start.

BRIDGEVILLE PLANS RACES

Two automobile races, one of 75 miles and another of 25 miles, will be staged at the famous Bridgeville Speedway on August 26, according to an announcement today by Henry Coslow, director and manager of the track.

Entry blanks for the two events have been sent out and by the time the qualifying trials are staged a day before the race, one of the best entry lists in the history of the speedway will be compiled.

The races will be under the auspices of the Keystone Recreation Corporation.

Local Net Cracks Win

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

MOUNTAIN PARK, Md., Aug. 14.—Three Pittsburgh stars and a clever Bridgeville youngster featured the initial session of play of the ninth annual Western Maryland Tennis championships on the courts of the Women's Civic Club here and have showed the way to a strong field to the third round of men's singles competition.

Dr. John O'Loughlin and Jack Lauler, P. A. A. mainstays, broke into bracket three by tallying impressive straight set victories. O'Loughlin, who already holds the Western Pennsylvania men's singles and doubles titles, fared forth on his quest for new honors by ovrwhelming Lucian Felty, rangy home product, 6-2, 6-0, in stanza one and by trimming Prof. P. P. Edwards, Baltimore pedagogue and former mentor of Eddie Jacobs, in game two, 6-2, 6-3. Lauler started by drawing a bye and advanced another notch by outstroking Orlando Reynolds, youthful Keyser satellite, 6-4, 6-2.

S. Jarvis Adams, Jr., native steel citizen and present resident of Long Island, flashed the fastest tennis he has displayed here in several years to out-steady and outmaneuver Alfred McCabe, brilliant Coraopolis collegian, 6-2, 6-1.

He continued with a hard fought decision over the redoubtable "Tack" Hammer, perennial Westmoreland county champ, 6-4, 7-5.

Maurice Saperstein, of the Oakridge Tennis lub, Bridgeville, attained the third station by virtue of a default from Frank Smith, Edgewood crack, and a hair-line verdict over Jennings Randolph, Davis Elkins College athletic director, 10-12, 7-5, 7-5. Paul Wilhelm, Duke prep performer, moved ahead a peg at the expense of Howell, a local lad, 6-4, 7-5, but his Bluffite teammate, Bob Hartman, was less fortunate and succumbed to G. M. Lynn, 6-3, 6-1.

Bill McCabe, Sewickley youth, late of the Penn State net squad provided the sensation of the lid-lifting program by downing Bill Ramsay, Uniontown driver and Lafayette varsity No. 1 man, in consecutive sets, 7-5, 6-4.

No more *tender*face from shaving!

Lifebuoy Shaving Cream's double-dense lather completely lubricates skin—protects, soothes, heals

ALL burning and smarting gone! All shaving irritation ended! Instead of a disagreeable morning task, shaving becomes a pleasure—once you start using Lifebuoy Shaving Cream.

*Tender*face is usually caused by friction—the rough scraping of razor over skin. The only way you can eliminate this friction is by completely lubricating the skin.

Ordinary lather cannot give complete lubrication. It is too light and frothy. Lifebuoy Shaving Cream lather, however, is double-dense. Possessing unusual penetrative powers, it crowds right down into the pores—hugging the face so closely that a thoroughly lubricated shaving surface is formed.

No tugging, no pulling, no friction—because there are no unlubricated spots. You get a marvelously quick, clean shave—yet your razor scarcely seems to touch you.

Lifebuoy lather is remarkable for its lasting qualities. Stays fresh and moist—doesn't dry on the face.

Furthermore, Lifebuoy Shaving Cream contains the same antiseptic ingredient as the famous Lifebuoy Health Soap. Soothes and heals. Keeps skin clear, smooth, healthy. Truly a shaving cream and face lotion in one. Get the big red tube today.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Spang, Chalfant, Inc., Earnings Held Satisfactory, in Pipe Depression, With Prospects Better.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

SPANG, CHALFANT & CO., INC., made a very satisfactory earnings statement for the first half of 1928 when the depressed condition of the pipe business is considered. Net income for the six months after all expenses, depreciation, interest and taxes was $1,077,275. After deducting dividends on the $11,750,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock this was equivalent to 97 cents a share on the 750,000 shares of common stock.

THIS was the first statement of earnings showing combined operations of Spang, Chalfant and Standard Seamless Tube Company which was acquired on February 27, 1928.

The seamless tube mills were operated at capacity in July and are continuing to produce at the maximum rate this month. The welded pipe mills are working at about 85 per cent of capacity.

SEVERAL factors lead to the belief that earnings in the latter half of the year will exceed those of the first half.

Prices dropped in October, 1927, and continued at low levels during the first quarter. In the second quarter part of this lost ground was regained.

Shipments now being made are at higher prices than the average for the first six months of the year.

DEMAND for pipe in the oil fields was light early in the year but there have been recent indications of improvement.

The curtailment of crude oil output and some reductions in stocks are helping the producers. Drilling during the next few months may be in greater volume.

Spang's share in the oil field pipe business is being increased through its interest in the ownership of the Oil Well Supply Company. The 90 stores operated by this organization are now selling Spang pipe in place of National Tube pipe. Oil Well Supply's inventory of National Tube pipe has been almost entirely liquidated.

WHEN oil drilling is being conducted at a normal rate the Oil Well Supply Company will be able to distribute over one-fourth of the output of Spang, Chalfant.

A good volume of pipe is being bought for use in large pipe lines and Spang has secured a substantial share of this business. The company makes a range of pipe sizes exceeded only by that of National Tube Company, the pipe-producing subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation.

SPANG, CHALFANT & CO., is the oldest maker of pipe west of the Allegheny Mountains. The business was founded 100 years ago by the firm of H. S. Spang & Son. It confined its activities to the production of welded pipe until the merger with Standard Seamless Tube Company took place.

The consolidation gave Spang an opportunity to meet changing requirements. The oil fields are turning from the use of welded pipe and are preferring seamless tubing.

The merger also gave Standard Seamless the benefit of Spang's excellent sales organization.

THE balance sheet of the two companies of December 31, 1927, after giving effect to the merger and the new financing showed a strong position.

Current assets of $8,720,000 were 4.6 times current liabilities. Cash of $1,322,908 and marketable securities of $802,000 exceeded all current liabilities of $1,861,672.

PHYSICAL properties were appraised at $24,000,000 but were given a value of only $20,000,000 on the balance sheet.

The investment in stocks of the Oil Well Supply Company and other companies was carried at $3,694,946. At the present market for Oil Well Supply stock the value of this has depreciated.

The market price of Oil Well Supply stock, however, does not in any way lessen the value of this sales connection.

THE funded debt of $10,000,000 of 5 per cent first mortgage bonds is conservative when compared with the physical properties and the total assets of $32,444,288. The surplus amounted to $3,068,242.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER EARLY SLUMP

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The stock market displayed another complete reversal of form today, selling off sharply during the morning and then rallying briskly in the afternoon. The recovery was stimulated by the lowering of the call money rate from 7½ to 7 per cent. Early losses of 1 to 4 points in the active issues were largely recovered and replaced, in many instances, by gains of 1 to 3 points. Trading, which had been dull on the decline, picked up on the rally.

Time money continued firm with 6½ per cent bid for all dates. Some New York dealers also advanced the bid rate ⅛ of 1 per cent on 120-day bills. Banks called $10,000,000 in loans during the morning, but these were easily replaced.

Chrysler was again the leader of the market, moving up to another new high record at 97 on a big turnover. Brockway Motor crossed 61 to a new peak and Electric Auto Lite and Motor Wheel also moved into new high ground. General Motors, which broke 4 points in the morning reaction, recovered a substantial part of its loss.

Amusement shares also attracted a large following. Warner Bros. Pictures A, which broke 4¼ points in the early trading, recovered all its loss and moved to a new peak price at 85½. Pathe A climbed 2 points above yesterday's final quotations after an early interval of heaviness. Loft candy was again under brisk accumulation on rumors that merger negotiations were pending with a large grocery chain, the stock touching a new peak price for the year.

Railroad shares were not affected by reports that a strike vote was being taken on western roads. Jersey Central, ordinarily inactive, soared 12 points.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—With Liverpool wheat quotations higher than looked for, wheat values here scored fresh upturns early today. Liverpool reported less bearish Canadian crop advices and a better inquiry abroad both for wheat from Canada and from the United States. Opening unchanged to 1c higher, Chicago wheat soon showed a decided general advance. Corn also developed firmness, starting unchanged to 1c up, and subsequently holding within the initial limits. Oats were easy. Provisions slanted upward.

At noon wheat was 1⅛@1⅝c net higher and corn was ranging from ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance.

Emphasizing sharply higher Liverpool quotations and skepticism about recent seemingly exaggerated estimates of this season's Canadian wheat yield word of 7,111,000 falling off in the Canadian visible supply gave much advantage at times to the buying side of the wheat market today. There was also a good deal of notice taken of relatively low temperatures in the Canadian northwest and of advices that Japan will require a greater percentage of foreign wheat than usual.

On the other hand, a leading British authority was quoted today as saying that although Canadian wheat crop news is less bearish, European buyers both English and Continental are displaying much caution. He added that European crops are in general being harvested rapidly owing to brilliant weather at the present time.

STOCKS STEADY TO FIRM IN QUIET MARKET HERE

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Trading in the bond market was light today and price changes were few and small under the influence of steadily firming money rates.

Industrial bonds were neglected and inclined to heaviness. While Dodge Brothers 6s made a small gain, Central Steel 8s, United States Steeel 5s, Remington Arms 6s and others showed fractional declines. North American Cement 6½s and Duquesne Light 4½s moved to new low levels for the year.

Rails were irregular. New York Tractions showed some improvement, but most others moved lower.

The foreign list was a bit firmer, with French Republic 7½s and Republic of Poland 7s in demand at slightly higher levels.

United States government obligations continued off. Liberty first 3½s and Treasury 3¾s sold around the low levels of the year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows. 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Detectives Merit Credit For Solution of Holdups

The city detective division of the Bureau of Police deserves commendation for arrests which seem to clear up two bold holdups in Pittsburgh and vicinity in recent months. Four men, suspected of having participated in the attack on a guard and messenger of the Ward Baking Company, netting the bandits $17,000, and in the robbery in which a dispatcher of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was relieved of $2,400, are in cells. Confessions are said to have been obtained by officers of the law, who are now trying to connect the men under arrest with other similar crimes.

With descriptions of the men who took part in these robberies as the basis of their investigations, detectives assigned to the case worked for many weeks and developments indicate they had strong suspicion as to whom the culprits were but no tangible evidence. The arrest of two of the men for other crimes furnished clues which resulted in the arrest of a woman friend of one of the quartet of prisoners, and her statements are said to have furnished additional links in the chain of circumstances which ultimately led to admissions of guilt.

That is good detective work, and the public appreciates good service.

Any Dynamite in It?

Any More Conscripting of Young Americans?

Secretary Kellogg, representing the United States, will meet European statesmen in Paris to talk over the Kellogg Peace proposal.

Herr Stresemann, Germany's Prime Minister, will be on hand to ask when foreign troops are to leave German soil, when this country and the Allies, now taking $600,000,000 a year in gold from Germany, will name a definite sum that, once paid, will end Germany's debt.

At present Germany must go on paying indefinitely, while the Allies make up their minds how much blood can be taken out of that particular nation.

Gold transfusion from Germany to other countries can't last FOREVER. The golden tide will run out.

What if Germany should refuse to pay? The war could not be started over again. But Germans are disarmed, their railroads, customs houses and other sources of revenue doubtless could be taken over for the benefit of the foreigners.

While we are talking about peace, it would be a good idea to take steps to establish a peaceful spirit in Germany and also in Russia, biggest, most powerful, richest country in Europe.

Also somebody ought to find out, before the Senate adopts the new peace idea, just exactly what it will MEAN, and what obligations it would put upon the United States.

The principal thing to know is, WHAT WOULD THIS COUNTRY HAVE TO DO UNDER THAT TREATY IF TWO OTHER NATIONS WENT TO WAR, AND EUROPE DECIDED THAT ONE OF THEM WAS THE AGGRESSOR? Should we be obliged to finance that war for the innocent party, should we be expected to send our men over to take part in it?

If so, the Senate should not approve the treaty.

We should bind ourselves to peace, but remain free to decide at any moment our course in regard to anybody else's war.

A Washington Monument Skyscraper

Washington Would Like to See It.

This building with sloping sides that will look like the Washington Monument, is a NEW idea, and that makes it interesting. Also it is a GOOD idea. The small building around the base leaves plenty of permanent light, air and sunshine for the tower rooms.

Perhaps Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, of the Metropolitan Life, who specializes in towers, would tell us what he thinks of this.

Also about the suggestion to allow builders of high building in great cities to set back their buildings AT THE BOTTOM, and go straight up as high as they like, instead of rising straight from the building line and setting back at the top, where it does comparatively little good.

Construction would cost more for steel. But wouldn't it be better for the city, for those below in the streets, to let owners set back from the BUILDING LINE, making the street and sidewalk wider, then run up straight as high as it likes, perhaps with a little slant, like this building?

WHAT WILL HE PRESCRIBE?

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Ol Clo's man sing-songs his way through New York streets and around the subway kiosks in a manner suggesting he is about the humblest of lowly workers. "I cash clo's" is his threnody. If you hesitate, his eyes brighten into a flame of shrewdness.

He is as eager as a bird dog trailing a warm scent, but when you show him clothes you have for sale his enthusiasm congeals. He appears to be on the verge of tears with disappointment. Certainly you do not expect him to pay even the most trifling sum for such rags?

He is the slickest of bargainers. He will protest, cajole, walk away in disgust and almost threaten but in the end he somehow forces you to accept whatever he offers. His shabby shyness rarely fails to make a dent in the stoniest heart.

Yet the Ol Clo's Man is usually just a good actor. During off hours he may wear tony $150 garments fashioned for him by uptown tailors and ride about in his limousine. It is a business in which alert men make from $5,000 to as much as $25,000 a year.

There in on Elizabeth street an Old Clothes Exchange operated much on the order of the stock exchange with seats from $5 to $25. More than 500 Ol Clo's men bring their daily collections there to be bartered to men who refurbish them to ship all over the world.

Old clothes are shipped weekly to London where they are renovated and distributed to Africa, Turkey and India. Many are later worn by Negroes in Africa. One man has a four-story building and two six-story buildings entirely filled with old clothes for weekly shipments.

The Ole Clo's Man scans obituary columns and mails polite cards to widows suggesting a call to inspect what cast-off garments of the deceased may be for sale. These are generally secured for a pitance and taken to the Exchange for a sharp profit.

A famous Ol Clo's man operates in the vicinity of Columbia University. Students are often in need of a little cash and are willing to part with some excellent wearing apparel at a ridiculous price. The Ol Clo's man is sympathetic, for, as he says: "I know how it is. I gotta boy at Yale." He is reputed worth a half million but his appearance suggests he is on the last lap of a journey to the poorhouse.

New York taxi drivers are displaying greater caution. Few age zipping around the corner on one wheel or "beating the lights" at crossings. A stringent regulation provides that when a taxi driver receives a summons for a traffic violation his license is automatically suspended. He is deprived of a livelihood until his case is decided. And that often takes weeks.

Drivers of expensive automobiles are rarely haled to court. Traffic officers say they are the most careful of all and most considerate of traffic about them. And they never give a policeman back talk. That counts plenty.

Taxi drivers have private pet names for traffic cops. One on Fifth avenue is known to the guild as "The Snapper," and he is said to be the hardest boiled in town. Once he waves a driver to the curb, all is lost, and no amount of polite conversation will change him. Another in Times Square is called "Old Iron Tongue." He rarely talks. He just hands out a summons and waves the recipient away. And then indulges the luxury of a sardonic chuckle.

Mae West seems to have eclipsed Texas Guinan in achieving Broadway celebrity. The buxom, blonde star of "Diamond Lil" has issued a brochure containing excerpts from the turgid press puffs of those who think she is not only hot but sizzling. Miss West is a rough-and-ready lady of the type who seems made for those big mink coats and whose jovial hard-boiled banter tickles the Broadway mob. She also has a biting sarcasm and loves a verbal scrap.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

What's In a Clock Tick?

"A number of people are mystified by a phenomenon, an explanation of which by you will be appreciated. In each of two adjoining rooms is a loud-ticking clock. While sitting in either room the clock ticks are heard constantly, except at regular intervals three or four ticks are missing.—H. H. McKrell, Bellevue, Pa."

THIS is an interesting case of wave interference. The intervals between the ticks of the clocks as they reach your ears from the different rooms are not exactly equal, i. e., the sound waves from the two clocks are not precisely in step when they fall upon the tympanum of your ear. There is, therefore, interference between them. This occurs in the following way: A sound wave consists of alternate compressions and rarefactions of the air. Beginning, then, at an instant when a compression from one tick precisely coincides with a compression produced by the other tick, there comes a maximum of pressure on the tympanum, so that the combined sound is at its loudest. But an instant later, because the two trains of waves are not in precise adjustment, the compression from the nearer clock will strike the ear slightly ahead of that from the other, and the sound will be a trifle fainter. The next pair of waves will be still farther apart in phase, so that the rarefaction of the following wave will infringe still further upon the compression of the leading one, and this will go on until the waves in the two trains are just half a vibration apart, when the maximum rarefaction of one will correspond with the maximum compression of the other, and the sound will be very much diminished, or for a tick or two destroyed. The phenomenon of alternate increase to maximum of the combined sound waves followed by decrease to minimum is callead a "beat," and is well known in music. In tuning different instruments together the frequency of vibration of the sound waves emitted by one instrument is either increased or decreased until perfect correspondence is obtained with the waves from the other instrument. Until that is achieved beats will exist, but these disappear when the accord is struck.

The same phenomenon manifests itself in all kinds of waves. If light from two sources is so treated that the waves enter the eye in opposite phases, i. e., just half a wave length apart, they neutralize each other and darkness results. Where the interference is only partial, that is when the interfering waves are not in exactly opposite phases, there is only more or less dimming of the light. But if the two waves combine in the same phase there is a maximum of light.

In a similar way water waves may swell to a maximum, or smooth one another out, according as they meet in or out of phase. In physics and astronomy the phenomena of wave interference are of immense importance, and very remarkable results are due to them. One of the most striking is the discovery, made a few years ago, that the interference light waves from the stars afford a means of measuring the diameters of huge suns whose distance is so great that even in the mightiest telescopes they appear only as dazzingly brilliant points of light.

Hasten the Air Route!

IN this boiling summer weather nobody suffers more than the transcontinental travelers on trains.

The philosophical mind, upon arrival on the Pacific Coast, probably figures that the end justifies the means. Nevertheless, the trip is a severe trial of endurance and temper alike.

In a few years air travelers from coast to coast, transported at the altitude yielding the maximum of comfort and scenic beauty, will look with amusement at the freight trains on the ground below, crawling onward.

They will tell their children of the days when they themselves were cooped in steel boxes on wheels, frying slowly across the plains of Nebraska and the Rocky Mountain plateau.

The example of the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe, establishing combined air-and-rail route across the United States, shows that the American railroads are preparing for the transition.

They have the traffic and operating organizations which can make a rapid success in the new field of transportation.

Above all, they have the public confidence, the most necessary of elements required to make the nation air-minded and air-traveled.

Try a Little Self-Control

HAVE you perfect control of yourself?

But how do you know if you have not put yourself to the test recently?

You have this opinion because there are certain things that you want to do that you have not done.

You overcame the desire, so you think you are master of yourself.

Have you ever denied yourself the pleasure of indulging in the sourbe of your greatest pleasure or enjoyment?

In this particular amusement you have often realized that you are spending more money than you should—too much time and too much thought.

But never have you suggested to yourself that you curtail your participation in it.

It might surprise you if you should try this experiment.

More than likely if you made a resolution against it you would find some excuse for yourself that would enable you to go on just the same.

If you can master yourself in a thing of this sort and can cease to worry and regret it when it is a matter you care more for than anything else, then you can say with truth that you are master of self.

Try yourself out.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Lack

LONG since on stones their messages men wrote,
Their primal thoughts carved deep in primal rock;
Now, no man knows what these strange signs denote,
Their hieroglyphs the scholar's efforts mock.
Beyond all price the import which they bear,
The time-defying tales of ancient years;
Yet time itself has hidden securely there
The joy and pain, the merriment and tears.
All life's events are symbols. Could we know
The meaning and the purpose they contain,
Like stars the record of our days would glow,
All paths now dark with doubt would then be plain.
The lack is in ourselves, ourselves alone,
And not in hieroglyphs carved deep in stone.

Isn't It So?

Great Passages from the Bible

"The Earth Is the Lord's"

(Psalm 24)

THE earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who stand in his holy place?

He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jacob. Selah.

Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

Who is this King of glory? The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle.

Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

Who is this King of glory? The Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

WHEN a boy goes crazy about baseball or girls or anything like that, he generally goes real cuckoo. Well, there was a kid that got to playing baseball, but he wasn't any good. He couldn't stay on any team, because they'd always find somebody that was a little better than him anyhow. So he got awful discouraged, because he was bound to play.

One day this guy came home and told his dad he was going to join the navy.

"What for?"

"Well, I want to get into the submarine service and have some fun."

"Submarine? What makes you like to be drowned?"

"It ain't that, Pa. I think I'll do better with my baseball. There's more of a chance there. There's only five or six leagues, counting the big ones and the kid ones, around here, and I can't make any of them. But in the submarine service it must be great."

"You're crazy my boy. How could you play baseball in a submarine?"

"I don't know nothing about that. But I saw a book about it on the shelf in the bookstore. It's called 'Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea.' If I can't make one of them leagues, I'm willing to be drowned."

Business Immorality

PRESIDENT KECK, of the New York Rotary Club, said one night at a dinner:

"There are a few highbrows here and there who knock us Rotarians, but Rotary keeps on elevating business morals just the same."

Mr. Keck laughed.

"They weren't Rotarians, the two men in the oil deal," he went on.

"A minister, visiting an exchange, nodded towards a fat man and said:

"'Why is that fat man chuckling and winking and whispering to his friends?'

"'He's just bought in the stock of an oil company dirt cheap,' a broker answered.

"'And that thin man—he's chuckling and whispering and winking, too. Do you know why.'

"'Yes,' said the broker. 'He sold the stock.'"

The Next Stroke

THE player was the worst ever seen on that golf course, and the caddie felt like bursting into tears of grief and shame.

At last the player got badly bunkered, and, after a dozen vain attempts to get the ball out, he turned to the caddie and asked:

"What shall I take now?"

"Your car home," the caddie suggested, helpfully.

Are You Educated?

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

There are many tests of "How much do you know," some of them curious and fantastic. Most of them are tests of how sophisticated you are, as hardly anyone can be expected to tell the capital of Kamptchatka or to bound one of the rapidly fluctuating Balkan states.

Dr. Herman H. Horne, professor of philosophy and education in New York University, has, however, formulated a series of education tests designed to help any person to appraise his educational attainments accurately.

Some of the questions of Professor Horne, and some which have occurred to me are indicated below:

Do I keep myself physically fit?

Am I functioning at the maximum of my efficiency or just getting along?

Is my body a servant or is it my master?

Do I earn a living for myself and my dependents or am I living on what some one else has learned?

Am I doing better every day or just going around machine like in a circle?

Am I more anxious to preserve my own personal liberty or secure the personal liberty of others?

Am I keeping old friends and making new ones, or is my circle of friends gradually becoming less?

Am I a suitable life partner for another, or more anxious that that other be suitable to me?

Am I hospitable to opinions different from my own?

Am I loyal to my friends, my family and my country?

Am I constantly busy or just nervously active?

Do I love nature or am I blind to its beauties?

Is my standard of value possession, or ability to create?

Do I value an opinion simply because I have always had it, or am I constantly growing mentally?

Am I intellectually honest, or do I hold to those opinions which I deem expedient?

Am I good company for myself?

Am I happy now every day, or is my happiness something to be obtained in the future?

Can I enjoy a vacation and easily lay aside my business?

Do I appreciate only utility, or demand beauty also?

Will I stick to what I think is right in spite of all opposition?

Do I enjoy company that I can look up to or demand people around me that must look up to me?

Do I have class, national or race prejudice?

Do I enjoy children?

Is religion meaningless to me or necessary?

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

THE Parrot Owners' Association held a bridge party last week. One woman said she fed her parrot a spoonful of liquor and he laughed long and loud immediately after. She wondered if it would permanently injure the bird.

Another woman told a parrot story of a bird not supposed to talk, but trained to do tricks. He could walk a tight rope perfectly. The owner had company one day and had the parrot perform. He walked across in the awkward parrot manner and the ladies screamed with amusement. When the bird got to the end of the rope he looked them over and remarked: "I may look darned funny, but try and do it yourself."

Another woman told of a man who sent home a pretty green parrot the same day the lady of the house told the cook "a bird" would arrive for dinner. The cook proceeded to rip off the feathers and cook the parrot.

The family turned pale when the platter was set down beside the mashed potatoes.

"Why that bird spoke several languages," said the man who bought him.

"Is that so," said the Irish girl, "and ain't it funny that he didn't say something!"

A young woman attended a dinner in San Francisco the other night and greeted warmly a white-haired man who sat next to her. She remembered him as an old friend of her father's when he was alive.

The man was not too old to beau the girl around. She too was quite gray. But she declared: "Mr. Blank was my father's oldest friend. I have a picture of you, Mr. Blank, that you gave my father. He gave it to me and I still treasure it."

The somewhat embarrassed man replied, with a glance at her own gray hair: "Yes, indeed, you must have collected quite a number of mementoes in your time."

Now, I ask you!

Robert Louis Stevenson said a great many wise things that it wouldn't hurt any woman to remember. Among them:

"Some strand of our undoing is involved in every quarrel."

"There is never a bad wind that blows where we want to go."

"Vanity dies hard. Sometimes it outlives the woman."

"There is never an ill thing made better by meddling."

"We make love and thereby ourselves fall the deeper into it. It is only with the heart that one captures a heart."

"It is not always the most faithful believer that makes the cunningest apostle."

It certainly would add to the fun of living if no one ever stopped women from asking questions. I'd love to ask that girl on Fifty-seventh street why she always wears raspberry colored stockings. They are terrible.

I'd like to ask Peggy Joyce what a girl has to say to convince men that she simply can't frolic unless she is sprinkled with new diamonds. And how a girl acts when a man hands her $40,000 in negotiable bonds about the second meeting. And how they act when they find out that a heart doesn't always accompany a note of acceptance.
